Kansas City, Aug. 10.—The operators at the Postal Telegraph office here quit work at 1 o'clock this afternoon. A committee from the Western Union strikers' headquarters was on the way to the Postal building to ask the operators there to join the strike. The action was taken before the committee arrived.

There were seventy operators employed at the Postal office. About fifty were at work this morning. Four of the number were women.

The Operators Became Uneasy.

For a while this morning it was thought that the Postal operators would not join in the strike because they were not required to transact business with Chicago, the seat of the difficulties, but about noon the situation changed.

"The non-union wire was our only grievance at first," one of the Postal Telegraph operators said, "but conditions have changed. The men in the office have been uneasy. We wish an eight-hour day and there are other grievances to be settled.

"It seems that a clean sweep all over the country will be necessary to adjust the differences."

Four Were Women.

Four of the Postal Telegraph operators who walked out this afternoon were women.

Harry Moreland, manager of the Kansas City office of the Postal company, had only a few minutes' notice of the strike. Up to 1 o'clock he believed that the operators would not join in the walkout. He had not asked them to work on the non-union Chicago wire and that was the only grievance they had mentioned to him.

Only one operator, William Richards, a non-union employe, remained in the room when the men struck.

Minneapolis, Aug. 10.—With only a few exceptions, every Western Union telegraph operator in Minneapolis left their instruments and walked out today.

New Orleans, Aug 10.—All of the operators in the employ of the Western Union Telegraph company walked out here this morning at 10 o'clock in conformity with an order issued after a vote had been taken at a meeting of the local telegraphers' union. The Postal operators struck here last night.

Out in Houston, Texas.

Houston Texas, Aug. 10.—All the Western Union operators here struck this morning.

Nashville, Tenn., Aug 10.—Sixty-five Western Union telegraphers went on a strike at 1 o'clock this afternoon.

Dallas, Texas, Aug. 10.—The Postal telegraphers here struck today. Thirty men are out.

Meridian, Miss., Aug. 10.—The Western Union telegraphers struck today except Manager Stead, who is taking all messages subject to delay.

Out in Memphis, Too.

Memphis, Tenn., Aug. 10.—All of the Western Union telegraph company's operators at this point with the excepton of the manager and chief operator went on strike this afternoon. The strike was caused by the dismissal of five operators who had refused to work with non-union men in the Dallas, Texas, office.

The strikers also included the wire chiefs. It is expected that the night men will follow the action of the day force.

Pueblo, Colo., Aug. 10.—Because they were asked to work wth non-union men in Denver, the local Western Union operators went on strike at 1:15 o'clock this afternoon.

Denver, Colo., Aug. 10.—Conditions at the local office of the Western Union Telegraph company remain about the same today as they were yesterday after the strike was inaugurated. None of the operators who went on strike has returned to work, but the

BURNED $575 IN CASH

FIRE AT MILLINERY STORE OF MRS. L. E. McMULLIN SATURDAY MORNING.

SHE ALSO LOST GOODS WORTH $300

In Addition to This, Her Husband Was Buried From Gilliam Church, Northeast of Sedalia, During Forenoon.

Mrs. L. E. McMullin, owner of the millinery store at 521 South Ohio avenue, lost $575 in currency and almost $300 worth of goods in a fire, the origin of which is not known, at her store at 6:30 o'colck Saturday morning.

Mrs. McMullin and children reside over the millinery store. Early Saturday morning she arose, preparing to attend the funeral of her husband, who died Friday, and held northeast of the city.

At the hour stated, the children noticed smoke Issuing from the room below Mrs. McMullin's apartmetns. A fire alarm was sent in, and upon investigating, it was found that $120 worth of new hats, twenty-eight yards of velvet, vauled at 50 cents a yard, $10 worth of silk goods, $2 worth of silk chiffon and other goods were burned, while the money was missing.

The loss on the goods and building was covered by insurance.

Late Friday night Mrs. McMullin was paid the $575, which she had loaned on interest. It was too late to deposit in the bank, and, fearing robbers, she placed the roll in a hat box in the store. The box was among those destroyed by the fire.

HAD A ROUSING MEETING

A Large Crowd Present at Fidelity Council Friday Night.

Nearly two hundred members were present at the meeting of Fidelity council No. 53, Knights and Ladies of Security, Friday night in the hall in the Royal Tribe of Joseph building, the special feature being for a welcome to the new members transferring from Progressive council No. 1164, who have decided to give up their charter and unite with the two larger councils, that they might do better work.

Although the evening was very warm, the large crowd seemed to enjoy themselves to the fullest extent, even participating in a little dancing, but the numbers were few and far between. Ice cream and cake were served.

At the meeting Friday night several application were received and W. N. Foster was initiated. With the new impetus given by the ddition of the new members from Progressive council nd the new prize offered by the supervisor nd national council, a large increase is expected this fall.

Renting Houses to Bawds.

A warrant was issued Saturday for the arrest of J. C. Parmerlee for the alleged renting of houses on West Main street to persons for immoral purposes. The complaining witness is E. W. Shultz. Mr. Parmerlee furnished bond for appearance in Judge Leaming's court. A similar warrant was issued for the arrest of J. F. M. Counce, colored, Mr. Shultz being the prosecuting witness in this case also.

CITY WAS BADLY SHAKEN

BOULDER, COLO., SUFFERS FROM THE EXPLOSION OF MUCH DYNAMITE.

ONE HUNDRED PERSONS INJURED

Explosive Was Stored Near Freight Depot—Exploded When the Depot Caught Fire—Spectators Hurled to Ground.

Boulder Colo., Aug. 10.—Fire of unknown origin in the western end of the Colorado & Southern freight depot at 1 o'clock this morning, destroyed the depot, with a large quantity of freight, and spreading 100 feet enveloped a powder house containing 1,000 pounds of dynamite, which exploded with a tremendous shock. Firemen and hundreds of spectators were thrown to the ground. Two men were fatally injured, the plate glass in every business house in town, as well as in hundreds of residences, was broken. The loss is estimted at ¼ million dollars.

The Boulder police report that 100 persons were injured by the explosion and that twenty-five are being cared for in the hospitals. The fatally injured are Roy Lafavre and Ike O. Wilson, both acting as volunteer firemen.

When the alarm was first turned in only a small blaze was visible at the west end of the depot. The firemen, handicapped by low pressure, fought bravely, in utter ignorance that half a ton of explosives was stored within 100 feet of the burning building. No warning was given, and when the sheet iron shack split open with a dull roar the men manning the hose and every person within a radius of 100 yards were hurled to the ground.

In the business section of the city great sheets of heavy glass fell in splinters on the sidewalk. Not a pane of glass is left in the center of the city. Guards of armed men were throwns about the banks and mercantile establishments to prevent looting.

Scarcely had the eddying smoke from the explosion drifted away than volunteers rushed into the powder house and, fighting their way through the choking mist and flames, located several kegs of giant powder which had failed to explode and carried them out in their arms to a safe place.

On a sidetrack at the platform of the burning depot stood a car containing eight tons of dynamite. Despite the fact that cinders were falling on its roof and that little flickers of flame were apparent on its walls, a switching crew backed down and coupled to the smoldering car, and, while the brakemen beat out the sparks, the engine pulled the car two miles into the country, where it was left on a sidetrack.

The Boulder club's weekly reception had just been ended and many men and women were standing on the sidewalk waiting for their carriages when the explosion occurred. About fifty women were blown off their feet.

All the windows in the university building were blown out and the plaster fell from the walls and ceilings of the main building.,

Boulder is the county seat of Boulder county and is twenty-eight miles northwest of Denver. It is a picturesque little city on the edge of the mountains and has a population of about 7,000. The university of Colorado is there.

Will Frohoff and John McCloskey, operators at the Western Union office under Manager Gibbons, quit work voluntarily at 9:45 o'clock Saturday morning, after Manager Gibbons had informed them that he had received orders to lay them off.

Manager Gibbons remained at the key all day, working with Kansas City, and business was handled all right.

Mr. Gibbons stated during the afternoon that regular men were en route to Sedalia to take the places of Messrs. McCloskey and Frohoff.

WOULD KILL AN AUDITOR

DRUNKEN PASSENGER OF KATY TRAIN TRIED TO MURDER C. R. JOHNSON.

DREW FORMIDABLE LOOKING KNIFE

Railroad Employe Fled to the Pullman, Where He Remained Hidden Till the Train Stopped and Assailant Was Arrested.

C. R. Johnson, a Katy train auditor, residing in this city and running between here and Parsons, had a narrow escape from being cut and stabbed by a drunken passenger on train No. 1 Friday evening.

Mr. Johnson left here at 6:45 p. m. Friday. At Clinton a robust man, under the influence of liquor, accompanied by two women, boarded the train. When Auditor Johnson called for the fare the man paid three fares, for himself and companions, to Appleton City.

Train checks showing receipts for money paid for fares were handed the stranger, but he refused to take them, and Auditor Johnson dropped the papers on the floor.

This enraged the man, who said he could whip the whole train crew. No attention was paid to him until he unpocketed a large knife, with which he said he would "gut" the auditor. The latter escaped and ran to the Pullman car, where he remained until Montrose was reached, when a city officer was summoned and arrested the man. The company will prosecute the prisoner.

The women passengers continued on their trip to Apleton City.

A DANGEROUS STREET

Washington, Between Third and Fourth, in Frightful Condition.

Washington street, between Third and Fourth, is in a frightful condition and is positiveley dangerous to horses and vehicles driving over it, day or night.

Saturday night a gentleman reported to the Democrat-Senfinele that he attempted to drive his surrey on it and found himself in a horrible plight. His horse slipped into one of the big holes in the street and fell, and it was only by chance that one of its legs was not broken. The mud and water splashed over the occupants of the vehicle and all in all the situation was a disgrace to any city having the slightest claim to public decency. If the city hasn't the money to place this street in a condition not dangerous to life and limb it should fence it up Otherwise some one will be seriously injured there.

HE MAY STILL BE ALIVE

ONE OF QUANTRELL'S FOLLOWERS SAYS HE MAY HAVE ESCAPED.

THE STRANGE STORY NOT UNLIKELY

Several Years Ago Man Resembling Leader Came to Jackson County and Met Some of the Band.

Oak Grove, Mo., Aug. 10.—In answer to the question if Quantrell, the notorious guerrilla leader, is living, as had been reported in the Associated Press dispatches, Hiram J. George, one of his followers, now living in Oak Grove, this county, said that Quantrell was badly wounded in a barnyard near Georgetown, Ky., in 1865.

Quantrell and Allen Palmer, with a small company of horsemen, had gone to Kentucky from Missouri, dressed in Federal uniforms. They were taken for Federals all along the route, but after being in Kentucky for a week or so one of Quantrell's men shot and killed a Federal captain and when arrested it was ascertained who Quantrell and his men were.

An attempt was made to take them prisoners and in the fight Quantrell was shot and badly wounded. He was taken to Louisville and placed in a Catholic hospital, where he is supposed to have died.

However, Mr. George is inclined to believe that he did recover. Some years ago a friend of Mr. George's reported having seen Quantrell and conversed with him in California. Before this a man came to Oak Grove who said he was a brother to Quantrell. After meeting several of the men who fought along the Missouri-Kansas border he left the county. Mr. George says he often thinks it might have been Quantrell himself, as he much resembled that person. If living the guerrilla chieftain would now be 67 years old.

MANAGER RATHBUN OUT

Too Much Socialism for the Bell Telephone Company.

J. H. Rathbun will retire within a few days as local manager of the Bell Telephone Co., by request, he says, and after that date will travel in the interest of the Allison-Richey Land Co., of San Antonio, Texas.

Mr Rathbun stated to the Democrat-Sentinel Saturday that he was let out because of a communication he wrote for this paper, approving the verdict in the Haywood murder trial at Boise, Idaho, to which he virtually added that he was "for Haywood right or wrong, guilty or innocent," and he would like to see him the socialist candidate for president. in 1908.

Who will succeed Mr. Rathbun as local managere is not known.

FIST BLOW CAUSED DEATH

A Brother-in-Law of Isaac Winters, a Carpenter of Sedalia.

Isaac Winters, a carpenter of Twentieth and Missouri avenue, is in receipt of a letter from Harrisburg, Pa., apprising him of the killing of his brother-in-law, William Gracey, at that place, last Sunday.

Mr. Gracey was a married man with a family, and while walking along the street with another man of Harrisburg, the two engaged in an argument.

Mr. Gracey was struck and knocked to the ground, and in failing struck his head against the curbing, fracturing his skull, death ensuing almost instantly.

Finney, of the Katy, whose eldest son, Stewart, recently left Sedalia for Montana, where he expects to sojourn on a ranch for some time, has received word from his son that he likes the place and surroundings exceptionally well, and is very much pleased with his new abode.

JACK BOWERS TO LEAVE

POPULAR TRAIN DISPATCHER FOR THE MISSOURI PACIFIC RAILWAY.

HE IS GOING TO OMAHA, NEBRASKA

Family Now at Lima, Ohio on a Visit, but Will Join Mr. Bowers in His New Home at an Early Date.

J. R. Bowers, better known as "Jack" Bowers, now first trick dispatcher for the Missouri Pacific in this city, has been promoted to chief dispatcher of the Omaha division of the Missouri Pacific, with headquarters at Omaha, and on or about the 17th inst. will leave for his new home.

His family, now visiting at Lima, Ohio, will return here soon and immediately after packing their household goods, will join Mr. Bowers in Omaha.

Mr. Bowers succeeds G. H. Clark, resigned to accept better employment with the C., B. & Q. railway. Mr. Bowers' successor here so far is unnamed, but probably B. G. Miller, third trick man, will do the first trick, H. M. Alexander, now second trick man, will possibly do the third trick, while a second trick dispatcher will be secured elsewhere.

Mr. Bowers has held his present position for almost four years past. He has the reputation of being one of the best train dispatchers in the west, and all times, no matter whether derailments or wrecks are all over his division, he is the same serene "Jack," and at all times perfectly able to handle the position, hence the promotion. May good luck go with him.

"WOODSY" LEAVES SEDALIA

Well Known Cab Driver Is Going to Los Angeles, Cal.

George Woods, years ago a member of the old Sedalia baseball team, and one of the most efficient cab drivers in the city, recently employed by A. M. Mackey, resigned Saturday, and leaves this afternoon for Los Angeles, Cal., where he will join his family and reside permanently. He will be succeeded by Mr. Mackey's son, Earl Mackey.

"Woodsy," as he is familiarly known, has the reputation of being one of the most courteous cab drivers in Sedalia, and many a patron of the Mackey carriage line will regret to see him depart.

RODE ON A MOTOR-CYCLE

Came From Denver to Sedalia, 834 Miles, in 51 Hours.

George L. Lucas, en route from Denver, Colo., to Cincinnati, O., arrived in Sedalia Saturday forenoon on a motor cycle, which he had ridden the entire distance, 834 miles, in 51 hours.

Mr. Lucas stopped for a short time at the Osage street garage of Dillon & Son, and then struck out for the state capital, and thence to St. Louis, on his way to the metropolis of the Buckeye state.

The trip from Denver was made without incident, Mr. Lucas said, and he enjoyed the trip greatly.

MR. CRAWFORD IS HAPPY

THE ROCK PILE HAS BEEN REMOVED FROM IN FRONT OF HIS HOME.

CARTED OFF TO THE GAS PLANT

Both Macadam and the Old Red Lantern Have Disappeared, and West Fourth Street People Are Well Pleased.

"I take off my hat to the power of the press," exclaimed Will J. Crawford, of Iron Brew fame, to a representative of the Democrat-Sentinel Saturday.

And thereby hangs a tale!

A number of weeks ago the Sedalia Light and Traction Co. dumped several loads of broken rock in front of Mr. Crawford's home, on West Fourth street, and there it remained until yesterday, when it was carted off by the Light and Traction people to the gas plant, to the delight of Mr. Crawford and his next door neighbor, Dan A. Fults.

The pile of rock and the red lantern that finally adorned it at night, the latter after this paper had called the attention of the Light and Traction people to their shortcoming in not displaying a danger signal, caused Mr. Crawford to be asked something like one million questions in the past two months, he estimates, but it is now a thing of the past, and never again, he hopes, will he hear the query, "What are you going to do with that pile of rocks, Will?"

In this connection Mr. Crawford stated last evening that no sooner had he arisen yesterday morning, along about 5 o'clock, than the telephone rang, and his good wife hastened down stairs to answer it.

"Ting-a-ling" again the bell went, and when Mrs. Crawford took down the receiver and asked what was wanted her disgust be imagined when a well known local attorney blurted out, "Will you please tell me when Mr. Crawford is going to remove that pile of rocks from in front of his dwelling?"

The incident is now closed, but the Crawford rock pile will long live in history—at least that's what Col. Jim Story says, and he's pretty good authority on almost any subject.

KATY'S NEW PAINT SHOP

Seventy-Five Men Can Secure Employment by Applying.

The new paint shop of the M., K. & T. at the local plant, which has been undergoing erection for five months past, will be completed the middle of the week, and no less than seventy-five men, the majority of whom should be car carpenters, can secure employment at the shops by making application to Master Carbuilder Mitchell.

Since the destruction of the old paint shop by fire the painting of coaches has been done in the company's freight shop, but when the new department is finished and the painters move into their new place, additional room will be left in the freight shop, hence the need of additional carpenters.

The Katy shops are in a flourishing condition at present and much work is being turned out by the men employed there.

FIREMAN BADLY INJURED

Body and Face Scalded and Two Ribs Fractured.

E. D. Poush, an extra fireman on the Katy out of this city, sustained serious injuries in an accident at a point two miles south of Hyattsville a 11:45 o'clock Friday night.

Poush was firing engine No. 558 for Engineer Amick, the locomotive bringing train No. 408, in charge of Conductor Black, to this city. At the above stated point an engine flue burst, severely scalding one side of Poush's body and also his face.

He immediately jumped from the engine, and in so doing fractured two ribs and otherwise bruised and lacerated his body. He was brought here and removed to the company hospital, where his injuries were pronounced of a serious nature.

INVESTIGATE THE TELEGRAPH COMPANIES.

In connection with the present telegraphers trouble it is to be remembered that an appeal has been made to the president, and he is carefully considering it, for the investigation of the two big telegraph companies with a view to government ownership under the postoffice department, or else close government supervision on the same basis that the railroads are now overlooked by the interstate commerce commission. The telegraph is as much a part of modern business life as is the postoffice. It is more of a public service corporation than any other institution in the country, except the railroads. Considering the immense dividends paid by the commercial telegraph companies, even on their heavily watered stock, it is certain that the public could be given telegraph service by the government at something approaching the present postal rates and still leave a margin for profit and depreciation. Government ownership may not be desirable, but as the present strife keeps up between the operators and the companies, there is a fair possibility that the telegraph may be taken over by the government as a measure of public protection. One does not hear of strikes in the postal service and their elimination would be a great thing for the business public.

EXPOSED AT THE RIGHT TIME.

The report of Commissioner of Corporations Smith, which is devoted to the prices and profits of the Standard Oil company is a companion piece of rare interest to the $29,000,000 fine inflicted by Judge Landis. The view taken of the corporation by the United States commissioner is most destructive of the concern's pretensions to be a public benefactor. If these statements are true, and they merely confirm what independent investigators have asserted throughout the Standard's lawless and rapacious history, then this corporation is an organized hypocrisy, as well as an "inner circle" of financial freebooters.

What are the real sources of the Standard's power? The conclusion is that the control of the oil industry is not due to superior efficiency, but to lawlessness and various forms of despicable assaults upon competitors. It is even denied that prices are cheaper than they would have been had there never been a Standard Oil company. The Standard has robbed the people in extortionate prices. Its power was first built up on railroad rebates, and its supplementary methods have embraced "bogus independent companies," "an elaborate system of espionage" into the business of independet concerns, "bribing railroad employes" and "deception regarding the quality of the oil sold," Commissioner Smith's own words should be noted:

"Finally the history of this great industry is a history of the persistent use of the worst industrial methods, the exaction of exorbitant prices from the consumer, and the securing of excessive profits for the small group of men who over a long series of years have thus dominated the business."

The usefulness of the United States bureau of corporations has been demonstrated by these reports. The American people should see to it that the bureau's activities are not diminished but increased, as the result of the coming presidential election.

PUBLICITY AND PROGRESS.

If you were going to investigate a location, wouldn't your first step be to send for copies of the local papers and study their advertisements? In no other way, says Fame, could you put your finger so quickly and surely on the pulse of trade. You could tell much more easily than by walking through the streets whether it was a live town or a dead one, and just what forms of business were most active. And if you judge another town in this way—how about your own?

ARE CUTTING THE WEEDS.

At last the weeds in some parts of Sedalia are being cut. This is especially true of West Broadway, where many of the lots and plats bordering on the sidewalks and roadway have been mowed. The example set is a good one and should be followed generally.

It is hard to figure out why the English House of Commons should be making such a fuss about limiting the the power of the Lords. So far as the records show, the House of Lords has ever done anything since the battle of Runnymead.

Governor Hoke Smith, of Georgia, has announced that while in Europe he will not call upon any of the crowned heads. We hope he will not go so far as to resent it, if the crowned heads insist on calling on him.

The nobles of the Mystic Shrine took Fairbanks across the hot sands, but it is one best bet that the sands were considerably cooled after the Human Iceberg had wended his way.

If the present increase in food prices continues, the menu at the the next Jefferson dollar dinner will have to consist of a glass of water and a few kind words.

As a statesman, Senator Foraker undoubtedly ranks high, but in the game of politics, he seems possessed of an ungovernable desire to trump his partner's ace.

And the feature of the discussion is that the first initiative and referendum law enacted in this country was the work of a republican legislature.

It was unfortunate for Mr. Harriman that the controversy arose just as it was becoming possible to finance several nicely watered airship routes.

John L. Sullivan must have a good pair of eyes. He has discovered the shape of Governor Hughes' chin through his whiskeres.

No newspapere correspondent has yet been killed for desecrating the sacred moonlight of the White House social conferences.

Apparently Mr. Loeb is preparing to place himself out of blame's way if things go wrong with the Roosevelt-Taft program.

Jack London says "I am not an authority on anything." It seems the news is getting around Jack's way at last.

As Col. Goethals cannot resign from the army, he is beginning to excuse himself by the failure of his predecessors.

It must be admitted that Mr. Taft has a handicap in having to carry Son-in-law Nick.

Why was not the Ananias club included in the government exhibits at Jamestown?

No one has suggested that Mr. Feraker nominate Mr. Roosevelt.

WHY BORROW MONEY FROM JOE DONNOHUE?

Because his rates are low.
Because his charges are reasonable.
Because the money is always ready.
Because he has to consult no one.
Because your valuable papers are kept in his fire-proof vault.
Because you always know where to pay your interest.
Because he has been in one place doing the same thing for fifteen years, and expects to stay there.

TEXAS ANTI-TRUST LAW

THE MEASURE IS DRASTIC IN THE TRUEST SENSE OF THE WORD.

IT BECAME EFFECTIVE SATURDAY

Trust Magnates Headed O in Their Greed to Appropriate to Territory of the Lone Star State.

Austin, Texas, Aug. 10.—What is admittedly the most drastic anti-trust law ever passed by any state legislature, becomes effective in Texas today, having been passed by the recent special session of the legislature. According to Attorney General Davidson, however, reports that the act would serve to prevent Texas merchants from handling trust made goods, are not true. The law will be applied only to the agents and representatives of trusts operating in Texas, and not to merchants or jobbers buying their goods in the open markets. Any trader who is doing his own business may buy and sell trust made goods without limit. The penalties under the new law apply only to persons or corporations who become agents of trusts under exclusive agreements, and who wilfully and knowingly promote the interests of trusts or illegal combinations.

"The entire purpose and effect of this statute," says Attorney General A. W. Davidson, "is to make it a felony for any person or firm or corporation to organize outside or within this state or to carry on or maintain within this state any monopoly or conspiracy in restraint of trade. Experience has demonstrated that our former laws defining trusts, moopolies and conspiracoes in restraint of trade and prescribing penalties for violation thereof were entirely inadequate to meet existing conditions. It was to meet these conditions and to reach those who were active in the creation and maintenance of trusts, as, for instance, officers, employes and agents of trusts, and not to extend the definition of trusts to embrace those who purchase trust made goods, that this statute waas enacted.

"Further anti-trust legislation of this character was the result of the well known purpose of the trusts of the country to convert and appropriate the territory of Texas for their greed and exploitation. This bill is intended to reach the officers, employes these agents of these freebooters, and make a fenonly for hem to ply their vocations in this state. The punishment for these malefactors will be 'stripes.' This bill if strictly enforced, as it will be, will put the stamp of criminality upon the trust magnates and make them outlaws in Texas to, be run down and punished in the same manner as a cattle rustler or a horse thief. The enforcement of the felony provision is mandatory on the county and district attorneys, will be aided by the attorney general."

Anything to Please.

Servant girl No. 26 was inquiring into his qualifications to become her employer. He had answered five questions with apparent satisfaction, and his hopes were running high. Then the fatal question: "How many children have you?" "Two," he answered, reddening with his sense of guilt. "Nothing doing," was the flippant response. "I never enter a family where there are children." His strained patience snapped. He seized her by the arm. "Say," he whispeerd, hoarsely, "come with me and I'll throw the children out of the window. Nay, more, I'll divorce my wife and marry you. Anything else that you want? Just mention it, and it shall be done."

WERE WELL ENTERTAINED

Rev. and Mrs. Frank Y. Campbell Among the Guests.

A number of Sedalians will read with interest the following, from the Gallatin Democrat of August 8:

Sunday, August 4. 1907, will long be remembered by a host of friends of Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Feurt, who had been invited to dine at their beautiful country home, one mile west of Jamestown.

The day dawned bright, the roads were good (as though Gov. Dockery had just improved them) and in all it was an ideal day for a drive to the country. Pretty homes, well improved farms, and fine fields of corn were passed.

We drove through the thriving little city of Jameson and were soon welcomed by our good friends at the Feurt home. More than fifty people partook of the elegant dinner served in a faultless style.

Ex-Governor and ex-Congressman Dockery and ex-Congressman Burrows sat at opposite ends of the table, and many pleasant memories were recalled at they talked over life at Washington years ago.

These visitors agreed that a dinner with "Dick and Fannie" far surpassed a feast at the White house. This day was the 18th birthday anniversary of Miss Pearl Feurt, the oldest daughter in this hospitable home, also the birthday of Mrs. F. Y. Campbell, the youngest sister of Mrs. Feurt.

Rev. and Mrs. Campbell were guests of honor on this occasion and all surely enjoyed the day with these good people. Among those present were:

Rev. F. Y. Campbell and family, of Sedalia, Robt. Davis and wife, Gov. Dockery, Jno. W. Meade and wife, Ross Barnett and wife, Harve Miller and wife, Frank Davis and wife, of Gallatin; Rev. J. H. Burrows, Cainsville; John Robinson, Coffey; Cort Feurt and wife, Wm. Everly, wife and daughter, Chas Feurt and wife, Crit Feurt and wife, Crit Everly and Mrs. Gaines.

Has Promising Future.

Friends in Sedalia who had the pleasure two years ago of meeting Mrs. Col. Rogers and daughter, of Lexington, Ky., who were visiting their aunt and uncle, Mrs. F. Matthews and Dr. J. W. McClure, will be pleased to hear of Miss Rogers' progress in voice culture under Madam Ashforth in New York city, who, with several critics, have pronounced Miss Rogers' voice something wonderful for a girl of 17 years. The young lady will study for grand opera.

Provocation Enough.

A deaf old gentleman dined with a family where grace was always said. When the guests were seated the host bowed his head and began to repeat the accustomed verse in a subdued, reverent tone. "Eh? What's that?" demanded the deaf old gentleman, who sat beside him. The host smiled patiently and began again, in a louder, more deprecatory voice. "Speak a little louder. I don't catch what you say," the old gentleman persisted. A low ripple of laughter went round the table. The host, his face crimson with embarrassment, raised his voice and repeated the verse. The deaf gentleman did his best to hear, but failed. He placed one hand upon his host's arm. "What did you say?" he demanded irascibly. The host cast him an angry glance. "D—n it, I'm saying grace," he snapped.—Lippincott's Magazine.

HARRIMAN SEES NO LULL

No Indications of Business Recession, Says Railway Magnate.

New York, Aug. 10.—Edward H. Harriman, who will soon make his annual tour over the Harriman lines, probably will be gone two or three weeks, but meanwhile will keep in close touch with business. Asked for his views on the business outlook, Mr. Harriman said:

"I hear much talk of a recession in business, but I see no signs of the recession My advices from the west, southwest and northwest are that business is still top notch. So far as one can judge at present it looks as though we were going to do a big fall's work."

Asked what he thought about the prospects for a return of confidence, Mr. Harriman put on one of his enigmatical smiles and said:

"That is beyond me. Investors and the public in general, like individuals, have their moods and changes. Meanwhile, we are going ahead and keeping our properties in first class shape. Theey are growing more valuable every day and I doubt not that everything will turn out all right, for values must tell in the end."

DIED ON THE TRAIN

Mrs. E. M. Wright, of Webster Groves, Mo., while riding with her husband from Kansas City to St. Louis on Missouri Pacific train No. 8 Saturday afternoon, died suddenly of heart disease at Holden at 3:40 o'clock.

The remains were removed from the train here and taken to McLaughlin Bros.' undertaking establishment and prepared for burial and shipped to St. Louis last night.

Uncle Sam's Pasturage.

Uncle Sam, unlike Job, the rich man of the east, does not own many cattle and horses, or sheep and goats, but he furnishes an enormous amount of grazing land for those who do have herds and flocks, says the Wall Street Journal. The total number of grown stock allowed to graze upon national forest lands during the season of 1907 included 1,388,000 cattle and horses and 4,895,020 sheep and goats

The Influence of Books.

Books have always a secret influence on the understanding; we cannot at pleasure obliterate ideas; he that reads books of science, though without any desire fixed of improvement, will grow more knowing; he that entertains himself with moral or religious treatises, will imperceptibly advance in goodness; the ideas which are often offered to the mind, will at last find a lucky moment when it is disposed to receive them.—Samuel Johnson.

FLEET OF BATTLESHIPS

WILL CERTAINLY HAVE BUSY DAYS BETWEEN NOW AND OCTOBER.

ON THEIR WAY TO THE PACIFIC

Several Naval Authorities Are Now On the Coast, and Others Are to Follow in the Very Near Future.

Washington, Aug. 10.—Busy days are ahead of the battleship fleet between now and October, when, it is stated on good authority, the vessels will be on their way to the Pacific. Acting Secretary of the Navy Newberry has completed plans for the summer maneuvers, in which all the battleships and cruisers will participate. The Kearsage, Kentucky, Ohio and Illinois, which have been anchored for some time in North river, New York, in order to give their respective crews shore liberties, proceed today to Newport. After remaining there for five days they go to Provincetown to participate in the memorial celebration which will be attended by President Roosevelt. The president will go to New England in the Mayflower.

Admiral Evans' flagship, the Connecticut, accompanied by the Louisiana, will go to Hampton Roads next week, where they will be joined by the Kansas and Vermont. The Virginia, Rhode Island, Georgia and New Jersey will remain in the North river until the latter part of the week, when they are to go to Provincetown. The Minnesota will have her final trial next Tuesday, after which she is to go to Hampton Roads. The Ohio will sail for Hampton Roads Aug. 25. The Maine is to remain at New York until Aug. 24, and then sail for Hampton Roads. The Missouri later in the month will also proceed to the Virginia coast.

The second and third divisions of the fleet are to take part in the Provincetown celebration Aug. 20, when the anniversary of signing the compact on board the Mayflower and the founding of Provincetown is to be observed by the unveiling of a monument to the Pilgrims. These comprise the battleships Virginia, Rhode Island, New Jersey, Alabama, Georgia, Illinois, Kentucky and Kearsage. The fleet will be in command of Rear Admiral Davis, with the Alabama as flagship.

In September the fleet will assemble off Provincetown for maneuvers. They will be occupied with drills and target practice until the middle of October. After a short period in the yards for repairs and overhaulings, the winter cruise, which will be extended to the Pacific, will commence.

Although the navy department has attempted to keep the plans secret it is now practically certain that the squadron will depart the latter part of October as usual every year, for maneuvers at Guantanamo, and after several stops will proceed in separate squadron formations, to the Pacific. Squadron tactics and other practice will be indulged in by the way. It is planned to have the entire fleet in the Pacific by the time congress meets in December, when the president will recommend in his annual message additional appropriations for contemplated improvements along the Pacific coast.

Several naval authorities are now on the coast and others will shortly follow to map out arrangements for the reception of the fleet and to consider coast improvement projects and the establishment of a new naval station. It is planned to have the fleet break into separate divisions and seek different parts when it reaches the Pacific.

THE KING OF BEVERAGES.

Water To-Day, as Ever, the Chief Staple of Human Life.

Water is the king of beverages; it is the beverage to which all turn when they would cure themselves of the injurious habit of consuming other beverages. But water that is not pure may be more harmful than the most harmful of other drinks, says a writer in What to Eat. Every health department should emphasize the dangers of impure water and urge upon the public the necessity of giving this matter first consideration. There are at my command numerous health reports bearing on this subject, and it is not difficult to prove that the death rate would be enormously lowered by greater care with regard to the consumption of pure water.

Water is the basis of all other beverages. All beverages of man's manufacture are water that has been adulterated by admixtures and chemical treatment.

Pure water is the one beverage which has stood the test of science and come down to us unscathed through continuous use for countless ages. It is nature's chiefest blessing to man. Other beverages undergo many changes with time. Each age brings them forth in new styles, new methods of manufacture, new processes of chemical treatment, aging and keeping. Foods change with each successive generation. We eat different kinds of foods from time to time, each generation prepares them differently; there are different methods of compounding them, different methods of cooking them. Pure water is the same yesterday, to-day, and forever. From long before the time of the Pool of Siloam, mentioned in Holy Writ, to the present time, pure water has undergone no change, and people have never lost a taste for it. Other tastes come and go; the taste for water never varies. So long as man and beast inhabit the earth, the "practice" of drinking water will never cease.

New Process for Aluminum.

Although the cost of extracting aluminum by electrolysis has been reduced from $8 to less than 40 cents a pound, there is a "long felt want" for a cheaper process. According to a London journal, that want is now met by a method which will make vast deposits of clay a source of boundless wealth and utility. In brief, the new process is this: Obtain aluminum carbide by heating kaolin and carbon in an electric furnace. Then heat the aluminum carbide with alumina (oxide of aluminum), which will yield carbonic acid gas and pure metal.—Philadelphia Record.

Fish Do Not Hear.

Much controversy has taken place on the question of sense of hearing in fish, and many experiments have been tried with a view of settling it. Some of the latest of these are those of which M. Marage has given an account in the Paris Comtes Rendus. The fish experimented with were carp, tench, pike, eel and others, and the author finds no evidence of a sense of hearing. Sounds were transmitted into the water close to the fish with an energy capable of affecting deaf mutes. No effect was produced on the fish.

THE STRIKE IS GENERAL

Western Union officials say they have secured fifteen operators and are moving messages with some delay. The Postal operators are still working.

St. Louis Not Affected Yet.

St. Louis, Aug. 10.—Momentarily expecting advices from the national deputy president, Mr. Russell, in Chicago, as to whether or not a strike shall be called St. Louis telegraphers were at work as usual this morning. President A. L. Ewing, of the local union, said today:

"If the operators strike here it will not be merely a sympathetic strike. We will ask for an eight-hour day and strict adherence to the 10 per cent advance in wages recently granted by the two telegraph companies. We also will ask that seniority be recognized in making promotions."

Manager R. H. Bohle, of the Western Union local office, said:

"The business of this office is being transacted as it was yesterday. Of course, we are having some difficulty in getting messages into the cities affected and we are accepting them only subject to delay."

In the absence of Manager Daniels, Assistant Manager McCormick, of the Postal's local office, would make no statement.

One Man in Salt Lake.

Salt Lake City, Aug. 10.—Business in the local office of the Western Union was almost at a standstill today. The only man at work was Manager Long, Chief Operator McDonald having worked all night. The prospects for improved service during the day are very poor There are few non-union operators in the city and the few who are here did not show any disposition this forenoon to take the places of the striking operators.

Washington Is Investigating.

Los Angeles, Cal., Aug. 10.—Ethelbert Stewart, special agent of the bureau of labor, representing the department of commerce, arrived in Los Angeles today to investigate the local Western Union strike. His report will be made to Commissioner Neill at Washington.

Working Long Shifts in Omaha.

Omaha, Aug. 10.—With telegraphers out in Chicago, Kansas City, Denver and other important western points, Omaha has become an important center for the distribution of western business by the Western Union and Postal Telegraph companies. Men have been called on to work twenty-four hour stretches already, with the result of much complaining. A meeting of the local union has been called for Sunday at which steps may be taken to present demands to the telegraph companies. Union officials have come to believe that they should support the Chicago strike, and that encouragement should not be given by doing work which was laid aside by the Chicago men. To this end it is not improbable that a strike will be called for Monday.

What the Operators Ask.

Kansas City, Mo., August 10.—The Western Union strikers will demand an eight-hour day and a 15 per cent increase in wages before they will return to work. This decision was arrived at this morning after a conference of three hours in their hall at Twelfth and Central streets. A committee was appointed to present the demands to the company next Monday. The details of their grievances are to be formulated at another meeting to be held Monday morning.

A vote taken at the meeting this morning was unanimously in favor of remaining out unless the company grants the demands. The women were particularly strong in their expressions.

The grievance list will also contain a demand for a wire scale. Wages commensurate with the business a wire carries will be demanded. Also the union wants a relief squad and other small privileges granted to operators.

"We did not strike for the purpose of demanding an eight-hour workday and an increase in wages," said Cal E. Ryle chairman of the grievance committee of the union. "We quit because we would not work with a non-union office. But now that we are out we would not go back if the Western Union removed every non-union operator in its employ. No, we are going to take this opportunity to better our condition and we'll stay out indefinitely unless we get what we are after."

George Embrie, chairman of the executive board of the union, presided at the conference this morning. He said the union is well off financially and able to stand a long strike.

At the close of the conference a committee was appointed, after some opposition, to ask the Postal operators to join in the strike. This committee was on its way to the Postal building when the operators there quit.

Information was received here last afternoon that the Western Union operators at the St. Louis office went on a strike at 5:20 o'clock.

Great Land Owner.

The Duke of Northumberland is the largest land owner in England. His estates stretch almost from sea to sea, and he can ride 100 miles and not once leave his own domain. And he has all the pride of the Percys and keeps up to the full their Olympian traditions. He was once heard to say: "You will have to go a long way back in our record to find a Percy who was either idle or a spendthrift." In religion he is an Irvingite, like his father, and he has converted the duchess to his own belief.

FRUIT ILLEGALLY DRIED

But Secretary Wilson Won't Prosecute the California Growers.

San Francisco, Aug. 10.—Representatives of fruit growers and packers met the secretary of agriculture, Mr. Wilson yesterday and asked him to relieve them from the enforcement of the pure food laws recently enacted, so that this year's crop, a large part of which is already dried under conditions that are now illegal, could be marketed and several million dollars' worth of fruit made salable. Secretary Wilson is reported to have said:

"If you go ahead and act acording to your light and prepare the fruit as best you can. I will never call the federal court to prosecute for infringing on the pure food laws."

MANILA WOODMEN PICNIC

Had a Delightful Outing at Leischer's Bridge Saturday.

Manila camp, Modern Woodmen of America, held their second annual basket picnic at Leischer's bridge over Flat Creek, 12 miles southwest of Sedalia, Saturday, and notwithstanding the extreme heat the shady grove was filled with Woodmen, their families and other friends and a most pleasant day was spent.

The Camp Branch band, under the leadership of R. V. Denny, furnished good music throughout the day, giving concerts that were enjoyed by those present.

One of the most enjoyable parts of the entertainment was the fine basket dinner served by the good ladies in great abundance, and everybody present invited in a most hospitable manner to partake to their fill, which they did. The dinner was served on long tables, in the cool shade, and will be long remembered.

After dinner the crowd increased until the ground was well filled, and everybody present passed a social day.

Judge D. E. Kennedy and Harvey Dow each made short but interesting addresses, taking for their subjects, "Fraternalism," and each had the individual attention of all.

After the speakers had been presented by J. W. Leischer, who was master of ceremonies, and they had finished, the evening was spent in social intercourse and all returned home voting the day most pleasantly spent.

Fellow Who Looks Like Jim Baty.

Friends of George Blackburn, who once played with the Sedalia club for a few days, will be pleased to hear of his winning a recent game with a home run in the ninth inning. This, however, is not so remarkable as the fact that the ball did not go over the fenec. George must have lowered his running record.

Bought a Grocery Store.

John C. Bullock, who was formerly connected with the Bell Telephone company, Friday purchased from W. J. Baumgarten the latter's grocery store, at Thirteenth and Ingram avenue, the consideration being $1,600. Mr. Bullock will assume the management tomorrow.

PAYS $3,600 FOR A DOLLAR.

Collector Gets a Silver Coin Stamped 103 Years Ago.

Philadelphia. — A single United States silver dollar of the coinage of 1804 brought $3,600 here the other day at the sale of the collection of the late M. A. Stickney, the best price during the sale except $6,200, which a dealer paid for a famous Brasher's New York doubloon, the face value of which is only $16.

There are but six specimens of the 1804 dollar known to be extant, one of which is now at the mint in this city. Stickney received the rare coin on May 9, 1843, from the local mint in exchange for other coin.

It weighs a trifle less than 415 grains, and, having been kept in a chamoise bag, it is extremely fine and brilliant.

Before it changed hands again today at the end of 64 years, dealers and collectors vied with one another in raising its value with their spirited bidding. Mr. Chapman, who finally carried it off, opened the bidding with $1,000. His competitors run the price up in jumps of $250 at a time, until the price had soared to $3,000. Then Mr. Chapman's bid of $3,600 got the treasure.

Equally interesting was the bidding for an 1815 United States half eagle, which was finally captured by S. H. Chapman for $2,000. This coin is of great rarity, there being only six extant.

PAPER FROM CORNSTALKS.

German Inventor Said to Have Solved the Pulp Problem.

Berlin.—The problem of providing for the enormous consumption of paper caused by the immense number of newspapers and books published in our time, which cannot possibly be supplied much longer with the material manufactured from wood pulp, has practically been solved, it is declared, by a German engineer named Drewsen, who has invented a process through which all kinds of paper can be made out of cornstalks.

The new process provides for the removal of the outside covering and the making of the marrow into pulp, with which paper of the finest quality can be manufactured at a cost much lower than the wood pulp process at present in use.

Owing to the large quantity of corn raised in every country of the world, it is predicted that the new process will provide the world with all the paper it needs if the supply of wood should become exhausted.

HITS THE PUBLIC HARD

AGITATION HURTS THE AVERAGE MAN, SAYS ROCKEFELLER.

THE RICH DO NOT SUFFER ALONE

Loss Following Prosecutions is Felt By Moderately Well-to-Do and Workingman—Interests Are Identical.

Cleveland, O, Aug. 10.—John D. Rockefeller, in discussing the recent speech of Judge Grosscup, in which the latter declared that the wealth of the country was so widely distributed that it was really in the hands of the moderately well-to-do class, said:

"They can hardly accuse Judge Grosscup of partiality to corporations or railroads; he has shown very well indeed how widespread is the damage resulting from the persecution through prejudice of the country's transportation lines. The same applies to thoughtless attacks on other lines of industry.

"It is worse than thoughtless to say off-hand that the wealth and the industries of the country are in the hands of a few rich men, who alone will suffer. There is a direct loss to thousands of frugal people who have invested small savings in these enterprises, and the indirect effect reaches still other thousands who depend, in one way or another, upon the success of every industry. The business of the country is interwoven until it is something like the circulation of the blood in the body. An injury or an operation at one point shocks and weakens the whole."

Community of Interest.

Referring to the financial situation, Mr. Rockefeller said:

"Who is more interested in the material prosperity of this country than I am?

"My eggs are not all in one basket by any means. A good deal of nonsense is printed every now and then about my having captured all the railroads of the country, or having monopolized this or that. The truth is that I figure as an investor and stockholder rather than as a proprietor. But any depression is likely to mean a loss of value to me.

"The groceryman may not feel it if the coal business is bad, or the wheat grower suffer if the railroads lose, but the man with wider interests feels every phase of depression. I do not mean that I am in the grocery or coal or wheat business, but I am using this illustration.

Must Work for Others.

"It is a fact that hardly any sort of business can experience dull times without loss to me. It should be plain, then, that I have the best right to be anxious for good times all around. Would I permit, then, any harm to come to any line of business if I could help it?"

"I am harnessed to a cart in which the people ride," continued Mr. Rockefeller. "Whether I like it or not, I must work for the rest. I can not evade this responsibility if I would. But I do not complain of this. I am willing to draw my share of the load as long as I am able."

"The first step I took," he said, "meant obligating myself to workingmen who henceforth looked to me for employment, and investors who put in their money and looked to me for results.

"At every step forward the load was heavier. The workingmen numbered a few score first, and then a few hundred, then thousands. There was a similar increase in the number of investors who could hold me to account. While I worked for myself, I had to work for them, whether or no.

Rich Are Servants.

"Today, retired from active business, retired, that is, from business for myself, the capital I have invested makes work for thousands, and opens opportunities for thousands of others to place their savings profitably. No man with money can escape this responsibility, or loosen this yoke from his neck.

"We are servants and not masters, we who are or have been engaged in large business affairs. It is to our vital interest that the country prosper, that the people prosper. They can destroy us or our business or at least our power of serving them. We would probably suffer the least.

"The richest man can eat but three meals a day, and it does not take a fortune to dress very well indeed, or to provide real luxury in living. The men who have acquired large fortunes have not pursued wealth, but business success. Had they desired money for the enjoyment of money they would have stopped far short of spending their lives, as they have, in the struggle that is business.

"The natural ambition of every man to make good provision for his family can be satisfied far short of the point reached by the big men in the industrial world of today. But they continue to toil at their desks because they love achievement, for the keen delight of creating where nothing was, and sometime, I believe, people will be convinced that they are toiling for love of country as well."

When it comes to the attacks upon him and his associates Mr. Rockefeller shows himself the philosopher. He does not pretend to like the assaults nor does he pretend to haughty indifference, and he is not affectedly flippant in his comments. But he is not bitter towards those who assail him. He says it is a misunderstanding that will right itself in time. He frankly regrets it, but he seems even more distressed at what he considers the danger of losing a good opportunity to capture the trade of the world than over the personal phase of the attacks.

"We are proud of our national sense of good humor," he remarked.

"If we must have our little family jars among ourselves, should we let the outside world laugh at our angry faces? Why should we waaste the energy we need to build up the country in tearing each other to pieces?

"If evils have crept in during the periods of marvelous development since the civil war, and it is not impossible that some few have can we not do away with them without destroying the whole fabric? Admitting, for the sake of argument, that the business world is a patient that needs treatment, must it be said of the result that the operation was successful, but the patient died?"

Mr. Rockefeller was asked why he did not run away from the hue and cry that pursued him. He laughed.

"Perhaps because my favorite music is 'Yankee Doodle.' Then, more seriously:

"I suppose I might have converted my interests into gold at one time and have taken my money to England or some pleasant part of Europe where life is organized to make things comfortable for the man with money to spend. But, do you know, that way of escape from the responsibilities and embarrassments that wealth brings to an American never occurred to me. The United States can not develop enough drawbacks to make me lose the feeling that there is no place like home, and this is home, in what I firmly believe is the greatest country in the world."

Would Exterminate All Rats.

"Prof." J. D. Smith of Cleveland wants to rid the United States of rats, mice, cockroaches and vermin. He says he can do it by the use of certain chemicals. In handling these chemicals he has at various times made himself very sick.

"Some day they will kill me," he says, "but I am not afraid. If I am able to carry out my plans, I shall be satisfied."

As he talks he drags packages of chemicals from his pockets—blue vitriol and acids of various kinds. His hands are burned through the handling of them, but he fondles them affectionately and does not mind.

If the city of Cleveland would give the professor $10,000 a year, he says he would make a vermin and rodent free community. Smith not only slays these pests; he annihilates them. By playing on their appetites he lures them to an awful doom. To the professor, a dead rat is as dangerous as a live one. Each, he declares, spreads typhoid and like diseases.

Therefore he has prepared a chemical mixture which will slowly incinerate the rat. As soon as the rat partakes of the chemical an inextinguishable fire is lit in his interior. The fire burns as relentlessly as a theater villain pursues. There is no escape for the rat. He cannot leave enough of himself behind to make a decent funeral.

Phosphorus is the base of the mixture which the professor uses. After he has gathered remnants of food into a pail he adds a purple and white powder. Then some lemon. As soon as the rat partakes of this, he is on his way to a private fireworks display.

Quail That Were Quail.

On the big plantations no gun was ever fired at a quail. There was no netting until the master said the word. He knew exactly when "bob-white" was ripe for dinner, and woe to the poacher! A load of shot (buckshot at that) was none too good for him. Five coveys of a dozen birds each were regarded as enough for one drive, making a capture of 60 fat, plump, sound morsels the like of which we of this day and generation may never know. The master would look through the coops and release a dozen of the finest cocks and hens for breeding. The remainder were smothered for dinner in the old-fashioned southern style before the animal heat was out of them. Or they went into a great Brunswick stew, with squirrels, squab-chickens, rabbits, slices of salt pork, rice and the usual vegetables used in the making of this, the foremost of all southern dishes.—N. Y. Sun.

Fire Caused $10 Damage.

THIS WILL BE BUSY WEEK

FOR BOTH PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT AND SECRETARY OF WAR TAFT.

"TEDDY" IS NOW GOING ON A TRIP

Mr. Taft Goes to Washington Tomorrow, Thence to Ohio, After Which Comes His Trip Around This World of Ours.

Special to the Democrat-Sentinel.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 10.—Next week will be a busy one for both President Roosevelt and Secretary Taft. The chief executive, it is announced, will temporarily abandon the summer capital at Oyster Bay for a trip to New England, to be made on the presidential yacht Mayflower. According to reports, the president and Mrs. Roosevelt will first visit Newport next Thursday, where they will be the guests of Commodore and Mrs. Cornelius Vanderbilt at Beaulieu for several days. The New York Yacht club, of which Mr. Vanderbilt is commodore, will visit the Rhode Island resort on its annual cruise during the president's stay, when the rates for the time honored Astor cups and the second contest for the king's cup will be held. From Newport the president will go to Provincetown where he will take a principal part in ceremonies attending the unveiling of the monumet to commemmorate the landing of the Pilgrims. This affair will take place a week from next Tuesday, and the president is now at work on the address he will deliver on that occasion. The chief executive and Mrs. Roosevelt will be the recipients of as many social entertainments as they care to accept during their stay in New England.

Word comes from Murray Bay, Canada, where Secretary Taft has been spending his vacation, that he will leave tomorrow for Washington, arriving here Monday. The coming week will be spet in disposing of all important war department business, requiring the secretary's immediate attention, and a week from tomorrow he will leave for Ohio to keep an engagement to address the republican clubs of his home state at Columbus on the evening of Aug. 19. Aroused to the serious condition of his candidacy for the presidency, the Buckeye friends of the adipose secretary have advised him to get into the open and fight for the nomination in a strenuous style, if he hopes to win the prize. Many of Taft's friends have been indulging in criticism of his attitude before the people, being that of a Roosevelt dependent rather than that of an individual independent candidate, standing on his own platform, with his own ideas and issues. This advice, it is stated on good authority, has a vital effect on Mr. Taft and he has decided to take the bit in his teeth and inaugurate an active and aggressive campaign.

From Ohio the secretary will blaze a campaign trail to the Pacific coast, sailing from Seattle for the Philippines early in September. Material changes have been made in the itinerary, providing for many additional stops, where political speeches will be made. Leaving Ohio, he will go to Kentucky, speaking probably at Louisville on Aug. 22. The new state of Oklahoma will next be visited, Oklahoma City having been selected as the place and Aug. 24 as the date of Taft's appearance. A strong Taft sentiment is said to exist in the territories and the secretary will attempt to fan this into flames, as well as give aid and comfort to the republicans in their struggles against the victorious Democrats in the September elections.

On Aug. 26 Secretary Taft will attempt to "show" the people of Joplin, Mo., that he is the logical candidate for the republican presidential nomination, and on the following day is scheduled to repeat the operation at Springfield, Mo. On Aug. 29 Secretary Taft will beard the lion in his den by visiting Bryan's home town, Lincoln, Neb. Denver is next on the schedule, Aug. 30. Portland will be visited Sept. 6, Tacoma on Sept. 7, and the secretary will complete his political tour in Seattle on Sept. 9, when he will sail for the Philippines.

It is stated by the Taft advisers in Washington that it will be his purpose during the coming trip to discuss and present issues from his own point of view, in order to meet the criticism that in the past he has only basked in the reflected light of President Roosevelt. Much is hoped from this tour by the friends of Taft, who believe that it will result in placing him in the forefront of candidates for the nomination.

A HERO OF THE BUSH

Tale of Heroic Devotion That Is Hard to Parallel.

Courage is not an attribute peculiar to the white man, nor is self-sacrifice the prerogative of civilization. In J. C. Firth's "Nation-Making" is told a story as touching, in its brave devotion, as any tale of the Victoria cross. The incident occurred at Orakan, where the English soldiers had just defeated the Maoris. A little party of colonial troops, pursuing fugitives, came upon three natives, two old men and one young fellow.

The youth, seeing the soldiers, dropped on one knee and aimed with his gun at the advancing party, which halted a moment, while the old men ran toward the forest. The old men had thrown away their firearms in order to make escape easier.

The soldiers fired at the youth, but missed. Without discharging his gun, he sprang to his feet and ran on in advance until he caught up with the old men once more. Then, facing about, he presented his gun as before, but reserved his fire.

The weary old men gradually drew near cover. Once more the soldiers fired and missed; once more the gallant fellow turned and bounded on. The old men were close to the forest when the youth, nearly fainting, again knelt and took aim, but still did not fire.

The soldiers shot him as he knelt and rushed to the forest, but failed to capture the two fugitives, who, safe in the dense underbrush, made their escape.

On their return the soldiers found the brave young fellow lying dead. His gun was empty. It had not been loaded at all. With it he had covered the retreat of the old men and secured their freedom by the loss of his own life. No more gallant deed of heroic devotion was ever accomplished in any land.—Youth's Companion.

A MURDERER'S IMSURANCE

Widow of a Man Put to Death in Ohio Sued a Life Company.

Cincinnati, Ohio, Aug. 10.—Mrs. Anna Haugh, widow of Oliver C. Haugh, the triple murderer of Dayton, O., who was put to death in the penitentiary in Columbus some months ago, has brought suit against the Union Central Life Insurance company, of Cincinnati, for the recovery of $3,000, the amount of a policy on the life of her husband.

She says that the company accepted premiums from her while her husband was in the annex at the penitentiary under sentence of death and after he had been refused clemency by the goverinor and pardon board, but that payment was refused after he had been put to death. The late Governor Pattison was president of the Union Central Life Insurance company.

DIDN'T PLEASE THE WOMEN.

Story of Rise of Self-Made Man Caused Trouble.

That the early struggles of the successful American business man are not always a source of pride to his family was forcibly illustrated the other day here in a way that was not without its pathetic side. A recent patron of one of the fashionable hotels told several persons with apparently considerable pride how he had gone to America with a dollar in his pocket and is now worth $10,000,000.

A correspondent who interviewed him was much impressed, and in writing the story made reference to that fact in a complimetntary way, never dreaming it would cause a family quarrel. A day or two later the correspondent met the successful American in the lobby of the hotel.

"Young man, you have caused me a lot of trouble," said the latter.

"How is that?"

"Well, in mentioning the small sum I had in my pocket when I went to America."

"But it was true, wasn't it," inquired the correspondent.

"Well, that's not it," replied the other. "You see, my wife and daughters have been entertaining a lot over here and met a lot of people. They feel now that they have been disgraced."

"But surely you feel proud of what you have accomplished?"

"Yes, I do, and for my part I'm mightily pleased. But you see women are different. They like to think I always had the money. I can tell you my life's been miserable ever since."

The correspondent assured the other of his good intentions, but he refused to be comforted, and had not made peace with his family when he left town.—London Cable in New York Herald.

PAY MUCH ... ER MULCT LAW.

Iowa Saloons Yield $1,474,145 to the State Treasury.

Des Moines, Ia.—Official statistics at the state house disclose that the average tax paid by the saloons operating in Iowa September 30, 1906, was $865.85. Of the 240 cities in which they are operated a tax additional to the $600 annual mulct was collected in but 164. Of the total of $1,474,145.20 collected from the saloons during the year mentioned, $548,526.26 went to county treasuries and $925,618.94 went to the city treasuries.

The Red Book, soon to be issued by the secretary of state, will contain statistics relative to the operation of the mulct and cigarette tax laws. These are the first authentic figures showing the extent to which the laws are in operation. They show that there are 56 counties in which the prohibitory law still obtains. In the 43 counties under the mulct law, 242 cities and towns and 51 townships have saloons. There were 1,770 saloons. The county treasurers collected from them in the year ending September 30, 1906, $1,097,052.52.

Of the 242 cities in which saloons are operated reports were received from 240. Of these 76 do not charge a tax additional to the $600 annual mulct; the others do. The total collections made by cities and towns amounted to $377,092.

Scott county has the largest number of saloons of the 43 counties in which they are operated, 242 in all. No other county went over 200. Harrison and Marion have the fewest, three in all.

TIM HENNESSEY WALKED

OVER THE MISSOURI PACIFIC TRACKS WHEN HE WAS A COMMISSIONER.

HE CRITICISES CHAIRMAN KNOTT

Tells How Things Were Done in Olden Times, and Contrasts It With What Is Being Done by Present Board.

St. Louis, Aug. 10.—Timothy J. Hennessey, railroad and warehouse commissioner of Missouri for twelve years and now an inspector in the St. Louis street department, criticises John A. Knott, chairman of the present commission, for his attitude in the Missouri Pacific railroad fight with the other members of the board.

"Why, when I was commissioner, and that was only four years ago, I tramped over the road to make inspections," said Mr. Hennessey.

"When a report reached us that the proper standard was not maintained by the railroads I donned an old suit of clothes and started to see what was the matter. Every tie was inspected; every culvert thoroughly examined.

"Today the commissioners are too high toned to undertake a foot inspection of the road. In those days the Missouri Pacific had one of the best roadbeds in Missouri and it still has."

Mr. Hennessey said the reports of the railroad and warehouse commissioners will show his personal reports and accounts of inspections.

Prior to his election to the board in 1890 Mr. Hennessey was an engineer for twenty years on the Wabash railroad and for three years on the Missouri Pacific. He says he would like to become a candidate in 1908, but that the primary makes it too expensive.

REGARDING RAILROADS

MR. J. L. ROBERTS, OF MARSHALL, SUES THE WABASH RAILROAD COMPANY.

COACH, CAB AND CABOOSE ITEMS

Matters of Interest Picked Up From Various Sources for the Benefit of Democrat-Sentinel Readers.

Suit for $1,000 was filed in the Macon circuit court Friday by John L. Roberts, of Marshall, stenographer for Judge Samuel Davis, of the Fifteenth judicial circuit, against the Wabash Railroad company on somewhat peculiar allegations.

Mr. Roberts states that while a passenger on the Wabash railroad, on his way from Glasgow, in Howard county, to Macon, it became necessary for him to stop over at the Salisbury station to await his train; that while there he stepped into the ticket office to get a telegraph blank; that after writing his message he was without provocation assaulted by the station agent or operator and forcibly ejected from the office; that the station agent called plaintiff insulting names and attacked and bruised the plaintiff about the head, neck and body.

Plaintiff asks $500 actual damages and $500 exemplary, alleging that the attack was "entirely without provocation and from an evil heart."

Mr. Roberts is well known in Central and Northern Missouri, having been for many years officially connected with the courts in those sections.

Trainmen May Force Wage Demand.

A Denver dispatch of the 9th says: A general strike of all the switchmen on the Denver and Rio Grande, between Denver and Salt Lake City, is possible in the near future. The general grievance committee of the trainmen is in the city and held two meetings today.

The committee has not yet decided whether it will make a demand of 2 cents an hour increase upon the road at this time. Whatever decision is reached, there will be no meeting between the representatives of the men and the railroads until next week, owing to the absence from the city of W. S. Martin, assistant general manager.

It is believed if the demand is made the road will grant it, and in that case the Colorado Southern will probably grant the demands of the strikers. In the meantime, the Colorado Southern strike situation remains unchanged, except for the claims of the company that it is constantly putting on more men and getting back to normal conditions.

Removal of the Depot.

Here's a shout of joy from the New Franklin News:

They "have came."

Bag and baggage.

The Katy's Junction office staff—superintendents, dispatchers, timekeepers and clerks, to say nothing of the handsome stenographer!

What New Franklin has dreamed of for more than a decade has actually came to pass—the division depot is being moved up town. The work of reducing the station building to portable fragments began Monday.

Tuesday the officials and their respective satellites abandoned the Junction for good and all, removing to their new headquarters on Missouri avenue. New Franklin is glad.

Then a Joplin Man Was Permitted to Enlist in the Army

Joplin, Mo., Aug. 10.—Frederick B. Richey, who was refused admission to the United States army by the recruiting officers here because he had tattooed on one arm a large figure of Eve in her original attire, demonstrated his resourcefulness and also his great desire to join the army by visiting a physician and having an exquisite decollete gown tattooed over the offending figure.

Richey then returned to the recruiting station and was admitted to the service.

THE KING OF GAMBLERS

McDONALD DIES, FOLLOWING A KILLING IN WHICH WIFE WAS ACCUSED.

HE NURSED THE WOMAN IN JAIL

Although Deceived, He Repaid Infidelity by Kindness--He Had Warm Friends Among the Poor.

Chicago, Ill., Aug. 10.—Michael C. McDonald, 68 years old, once head of the Chicago gambling fraternity and democratic politician, died early Friday morning at St. Anthony de Padua hospital after a brief illness. Heart failure and worry over the arrest of his wife were ascribed as the causes.

McDonald's health had been failing since his wife, Mrs. Dora McDonald, was taken into custody, charged with the shooting of the young artist, Webster S. Guerin, in his studio in the Omaha building, 134 Van Buren street. He spent many sleepless nights watching over her in the Harrison street police annex and later in the county jail.

A little more than a week ago, after his wife had been released on bonds of $50,000, which he had procured, and had been transferred to the Windsor-Clifton hotel, McDonald became so ill that he was compelled to go to bed. His illness developed such alarming tendencies that it was decided to remove him to the hospital.

"Gambling king," politician and all-round sport, Mike McDonald's name was familiar from coast to coast. Notwithstanding many people were fleeced in his old Clark street gambling house, McDonald had many warm friends up to the last moment of his life. It was rather roughly said of him that if he robbed the rich he generally evened matters a little by giving something to the poor.

McDonald's domestic life never was peaceful. His first wife eloped with "Billy" Arlington, a handsome actor, who starred in a minstrel show that was popular in Chicago. Mike forgave her this and opened his home to her. But the woman repaid him with infidelity, the second time selecting a young French priest as her companion. The two eloped in 1889 and McDonald made no attempt to follow the couple or to get revenge.

The gloomy termination of his second marriage is still before the public mind. Mrs. Dora McDonald on February 21 is said to have shot and killed Webster S. Guerin. Guerin was a young artist, whose name had been linked with that of McDonald's wife. Jealousy is said to have caused the tragedy. The trial is yet to take place.

Mike McDonald at once engaged the best legal counsel for his wife and stood by her steadfastly, although some of his close friends assert that if she were acquitted he intended to allow her to shift for herself.

McDonald, through these years of trouble at home, was having plain sailing in "business." His Clark street place coined money for him, and investments netted great returns. His share of the price paid for the old Lemont quarries was $750,000, and he had many mortgages and real estate investments.

McDonald won his way—crooked as it was—from a place as railroad train "butcher" or "newsie" to that of millionaire. He sold "prize packages" on trains and, noting how eagerly the public bought when it was supposed a $5 or $10 gold piece lurked in one of the little boxes, he took to gambling as a business.

McDonald himself seldom shuffled the cards, but he thought it fair and wise to open up a place where others could drop in and play at will. The scandals in which McDonald was central figure were numerous and all were sensational.

In 1892, on the eve of the world's fair, McDonald was virtual boss of the local democracy.

The lifelong friends of McDonald were astonished to learn, after his death, that he at one time had become a member of the Jewish faith. James Hamilton Lewis, the attorney in charge of McDonald's affairs, said that after McDonald had secured a divorce from his first wife, who left him for a priest, he could not marry the second Mrs. McDonald, who is a Jewess, until he had embraced the Jewish faith.

Prior to his death, however, he returned to the Catholic faith and church.

Had a "Scrap" at Green Ridge.

In an argument on historic "Statesmen's Corner" yesterday, J. Ed Ream and George D. Calvert came to blows, Mr. Calvert being knocked into the ditch and receiving a badly bruised eye, says the Green Ridge Local News. He swore out a warrant for Mr. Ream's arrest, and in police court this morning Mr. Ream was acquitted, while the costs were assessed againts Mr. Calvert.

SUCCESS OF A PRINTER

HE MADE A MINT OF MONEY OUT OF ONLY THREE HUNDRED DOLLARS.

MR. HENRY L. PITTOCK IS THE MAN

He is the Chief Owner of the Oregonian at Portland and One of the Biggest Timber Barons of the Northwest.

Special to the Democrat-Sentinel.

Portland, Ore., Aug. 10.—There landed in Portland fifty-eight years ago a foot-sore and weary printer boy, looking for a job. He came from Pittsburg, Pa., before that city began to turn out millionaires like sausages. No one would have picked him for a winner, but that he is today the biggest success financially in the Pacific northwest is universally admitted.

The printer boy is now better known as Henry L. Pittock, chief owner of the "Oregonian," which helped to organize the Associated Press., and one of the big timber barons of the Pacific northwest.

In addition to running his newspaper, just fifty-one years ago yesterday, young Pittock got together $300 and bought a block of ground. It was out in the woods and covered with timber. Portland was the home of the Oregon penitentiary then and he made a contract with the state government to have the convicts clear his ground for $100, making the total cost $400.

He carried this property for four years without getting any return from it, and then he married and built a little cottage on one corner. As he prospered he built a larger house, but an exceedingly modest one, and he is just moving from that today to give place for a modern sky-scraper.

This block, which cost a total of $400, has been leased for 99 years. The ground rent for the first ten years will be $30,000 a year, and each five years this will be increased 10 per cent until from January 1st, 1907, to December 31st, 2005, the annual rent of the block will be $103,568, and all this free of taxes or any other expense.

Mr. Pittock built the first sky-scraper in this part of the United States. He is one of these young old men who participate in all public affairs. Like many another successful man he is proud of the fact that he has never been out of debt for a single moment of his entire life.

SUES FOR INSURANCE

Mrs. Springmeyer Declares Husband Who Disappeared Is Dead.

Mrs. Mary Springmeyer, of 5322 Conde street whose husband, Louis J. Springmeyer, mysteriously disappeared July 5, 1905, filed two suits Friday through Attorney Charles Fensky to recover insurance on Springmeyer's life, says the St. Louis Times.

In one suit, against Sovereign camp, Woodmen of the World, the plaintiff seeks $2,100, and in the other suit, in which the Royal Arcanum is defendant, judgment for $1,000 is asked.

Mrs. Springmeyer avers that her husband is dead. The defendants, it is stated, have refused to pay the insurance, claiming that Springmeyer is still alive. Attorney Fensky states that his client will be able to prove that Springmeyer is dead.

I Took Pe-ru-na, Hardly Daring to Believe

So Writes Mr. Newhof, of Albany.

Pelvic Diseases in Men.

Many an invalid is dragging out a miserable existence with catarrh of the kidneys, catarrh of the bladder, or both.

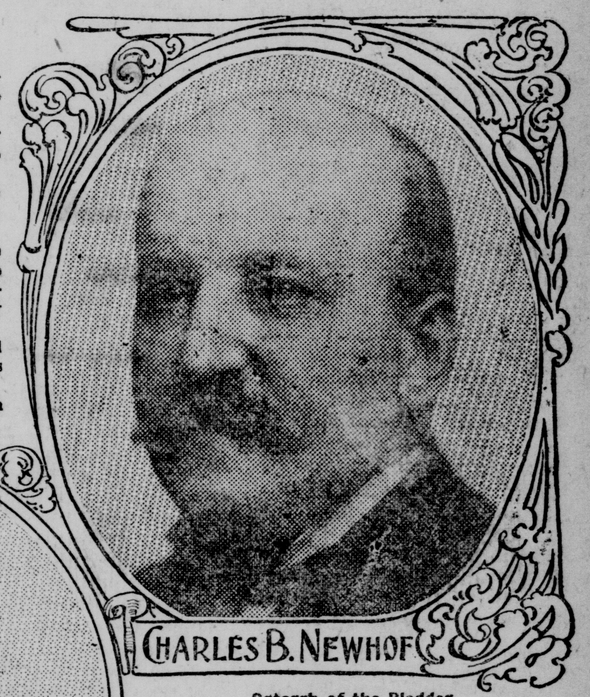

There is no disease equal to catarrh of the bladder in producing complete wretchedness, absolute despair, haggard misery and stubborn weakness.

An army of this sort of victims have one by one discovered that Peruna could be relied upon to relieve such cases.

One man tells another man, and in this way the news spreads until in all parts of the country are to be found men who have been permanently liberated from the thraldom of catarrh of the bladder by a course of Peruna.

Many cases of catarrh of the stomach, kidneys and other abdominal organs have reported themselves as cured.

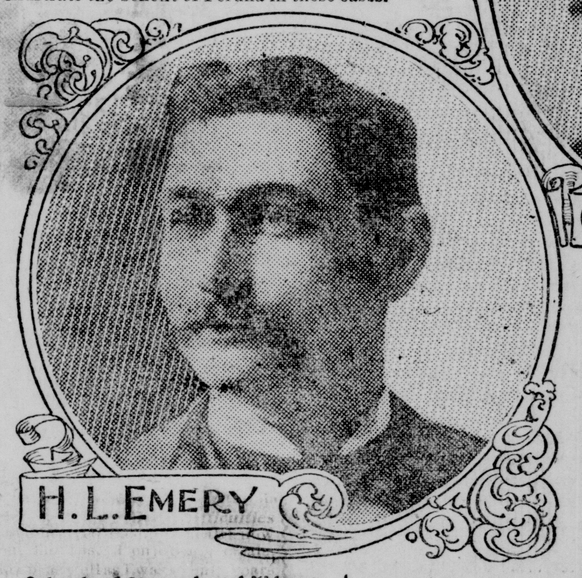

We give below two prominent testimonials which illustrate the benefit of Peruna in these cases.

Catarrh of the Bladder.

Mr. C. B. Newhof, 10 Delaware street, Albany, N. Y., President Montefiore Club, writes:

"Since my advanced age I find that I have been frequently troubled with urinary ailments. The bladder seemed irritated, and my physician said that it was catarrh caused by a protracted cold which would be difficult to overcome on account of my advanced age. I took Peruna, hardly daring to believe that I would be helped, but found to my relief that I soon began to mend. The irritation gradually subsided, and the urinary difficulties passed away. I have enjoyed excellent health now for the past seven months. I enjoy my meals, sleep soundly, and am as well as I was twenty years ago. I give all praise to Peruna."

Catarrh of Stomach and Kidneys.

Mr. H. L. Emory, Vice Chancellor and Master of Arms, K. P.'s, of Omaha, Neb., writes from 205 North Sixteenth street, the following words of praise for Peruna as a tonic. He says:

It is with pleasure I recommend Peruna as a tonic of unusual merit. A large number of prominent members of the different orders with which I have been connected have been cured by the use of Peruna in cases of catarrh of the stomach and head; also in kidney complaints and weakness of the pelvic organs.

"Peruna tones up the system, aids digestion, induces sleep, and is well worthy the confidence of sufferers of the above complaints."

Mr. David L. Jaycox, Chaplain Clarinda I. O. G. T. and Chaplain G. A. R., 865 Broadway, Oakland, Cal., writes:

"I am an old war veteran. I contracted severe bladder and kidney trouble. I spent hundreds of dollars and consulted a host of doctors, but neither did me any good.

"Finally some of my comrades who had been cured by Peruna advised me to try it. I at once bought a bottle, and found it helped me so much that I kept using it for nearly four months.

"Peruna has proven the best medicine I ever used. My pains are gone and I believe myself to be cured. I feel well, and would not be without a bottle in time of need for ten times its cost."

Mr. Robert E. Hanvey, Treasurer Knights of Industrial Freedom, also a well known writer and lecturer, writes from 11 South Nicholas St., Chicago, Ill., as follows:

"I was in good health until about four years ago, when my back became lame and sore. The pains kept increasing, with severe twitches and slow exhaustive aches. Urine was highly colored and passed with great irregularity. I knew this must be inflammation of the bladder.

"Having read of Peruna I decided to try it. I found relief from the pain within ten days. The aches gradually diminished, and it was a blessed relief I can assure you. Within three months I was well once more. My appetite had returned, nervousness and irritability were things of the past, and for over two years now I have been a healthy man.

"I give all thanks to your Peruna, and believe that it is a blessing to mankind."

MR. MATHEWS NEPHEW DEAD

Died at Atchison, Kas., and Buried at Pleasant Hill.

The death and burial of a nephew of E. R. Mathews, of the Antlers hotel, was written of as follows in the Pleasant Hill Times of the 8th inst.:

Arthur Mathews, aged 31, died Thursday at Atchison of consumption. The funeral was held here at the home of his aunt and the body was brought to this city Friday and interred in Pleasant Hill cemetery. The young man's uncle, Ed R. Mathews, of Sedalia, formerly of this city, was here to attend the burial; the aunt was unable to come.

Arthur Mathews was a Pleasant Hill boy, but left here quite a number of years ago. He was a son of Martin Mathews, also dead, and he made his home, after his father's demise, with William Mathews, who also has long since been called to "that life eternal beyond the grave."

While many years have elapsed since the writer, then a boy, knew Arthur Mathews, and while in the hurly-burly of life the memory of him had almost become effaced, it is yet with a sigh of regret his record of death is written. Thus it is as if a stranger hand had drawn this sketch of a stranger dead, but it is with that 'pity akin to love" and so, this farewell thought—may God rest his soul.

SUE THE MISSOURI PACIFIC

S. and William Lewin Ask $5,000 for Alleged False Arrest.

S. and William Lewin, junk dealers, filed separate suits in the circuit court Saturday for $5,000 each against the Missouri Pacific railway, for damages for alleged false arrest, says Friday's Kansas City Post.

The plaintiffs, in their petitions, say that on August 3, 1906, the defendant had them arrested on a charge of buying and receiving three journal brasses of the value of $5; that on August 24, 1906, they were arraigned and pleaded not guilty and gave bond for their appearance.

They declare that on April 17, 1907, the charges against them were dismissed in the criminal court. The Lewins say that the defendant knew that the charges were procured against them without probable cause and through malice.

AN OUTING FOR THE POOR

Salvation Army to Give It to the Children.

To the Democrat-Sentinel.

A free outing is to be given to the poor children of Sedalia on Thursday, August 15, by the Salvation Army at John Pregge's grove, three miles northwest of town.

We mean to give them a good dinner and refreshments. Besides, they will have a day free from all cares, enjoying the shade and fresh air.

We will start from our hall, 118 West Main street, at 8:30 a. m. All children going must get their tickets not later than Wednesday, August 14, and anyone wishing to help us in this effort we will be glad to wait upon you, or send it to Capt. E. C. Reed, 118 West Main street.

COULD USE THE ROCK

But Nothing Is Said in Regard to the Red Lantern.

To the Democrat-Sentinel.

The residents of East Sedalia who have occasion to use Seventh street, east of Engineer street, would feel highly elated if the citizens of West Fourth street could prevail upon our honorable mayor and street commissioner to move at least one load of the "Crawford rock pile" to the alley crossing between Engineer and Wagner streets, south side, as the residents in this section all have sore shins falling over the misplaced rock at the alley crossing.

The writer has heard several threats of damage suits (not saying anything of the cuss words). This crossing has been reported time and again for the last two years, so I do not think our West Fourth street friends should feel so very indignant over their rock piles, as their neighbors on East Seventh have been very patiently praying and hoping they may not have to wait until judgment day for a few rocks.—Subscriber.

CONFIRMING PROOF

Residents of Sedalia Cannot Doubt What Has Been Twice Proved.

In gratitude for complete relief from aches and pains of bad backs—from distressing kidney ills—thousands have publicly recommended Doan's Kidney Pills. Residents of Sedalia, who so testified years ago, now say their cures were permanent. This testimony doubly proves the worth of Doan's Kidney Pills to Sedalia kidney sufferers.

J. M. Logan, builder, of 616 West 5th street, Sedalia, Mo., says: "I have never had lumbago nor kidney trouble since I used Doan's Kidney Pills, procured from the Bard Drug Co. in 1901. I am all right now in every way. I have had part of a box of Doan's Kidney Pills in the house for a long time, but I saw no occasion to use them. I can recommend the remedy just as warmly today as when I gave my first testimony. I can also state that since using Doan's Ointment I have had no trouble with piles."

MISSOURI TO THE FRONT

WHEN IT COMES TO LIVE STOCK SHE DOES NOT HAVE TO TAKE BACK SEAT.

THIS IS PROVEN BY THE FIGURES

A Bulletin Sent Out by the State Labor Bureau Contains Information of Interest to the General Public.

Special to the Democrat-Sentinel.

Jefferson City, Mo., Aug. 10.—Missouri continues to forge to the front as a live stock state, having a gain in 1906 of $16,374,138 over the preceding year in the value of surplus cattle, horses and mules, hogs, sheep, goats and jacks and stallions which were placed on the market for disposal. Never before has the increase been so large.

According to the figures of the state labor bureau, compiled for the 1907 edition of the "Red Book" by Supervising Statistician A. P. Edmonston, under the direction of Commissioner J. C. A. Hiller, and made public today by Chief Deputy J. H. Nolen, the surplus live stock of Missouri for the year 1906 yields the enormous sum of $107,084,381, more than enough to build for Uncle Sam a fleet of twenty-five of the largest cruisers and battleships afloat.

Just how many of the 149,593 head of horses and mules were horses and how many were mules, the railroad and steamboat returns to the bureau of labor do not show, but the increase on the two is large enough to show that the state continues to hold its lead as an international mule market.

The following table, taken from the advance sheets of the "Red Book," tells a prosperous tale of the standing of Missouri in surplus live stock for the year 1906:

Commodity.	Quantity.	Value.
Cattle	1,351,309..	$43,241,888
Hogs	3,621,779..	43,461,348
Horses & mules.	149,593..	15,856,858
Sheep	779,410..	4,286,755
Goats	9,896..	44,532
Stallions, Jacks.	386..	193,000
Total value		$107,084,381

In total valuation of all live stock Nodaway county leads for 1906, with $3,978,139; Boone county is second, with $3,732,435, and Saline county third, with $3,349,152.

Cattle—Nodaway county, 52,538; Saline county, 50,550; Jackson county, 38,552 head.

Hogs—Nodaway county, 160,615; Caldwell county, 108,240; Boone county, 106,054 head.

Horses and Mules—Schuyler county, 5,664; Clinton county, 5,522; Salin county, 5,256 head.

Sheep—Boone county, 59,600; Callaway county, 36,500; Randolph county, 28,350 head.

Goats—Shelby and Pike counties, 800 head each; Macon county, 775 head.

ELI CATES BOBS UP

Pitched Good Ball for Sedalia a Few Years Ago.

Eli Cates, a product of Greensfork, Ind., who has been pitching for the Oakland team in the Pacific league, has been signed by Manager Cantillon, of the Washington Americans.

Cates began pitching ten years ago. His first engagement was with the Connersville, Ind., independent team. Later he pitched for a Southern league team, for Sedalia in the Missouri Valley league, and Leavenworth, Kas., in the Western association.

According to his record with Oakland, Cantillon said Cates is a find. His speed while pitching amateur ball gained for him the title of "Cates, the cyclone pitcher."

AN ENGINEER'S VISIT

Dam the Osage for Power for Sedalia and Other Towns.

Last Friday Wm. G. Goodwin, a consulting engineer, visited Warsaw, and made calculations of the power in the river for daming and electrical purposes, says the Warsaw Enterprise.

He was taken to the Hackberry ford, where he made an estimate of the width, depth and rate of current at low water. A preferable dam site would be where there is a rock bottom.

Mr. Goodwin saw no difficulty in making a dam from an engineering standpoint. He said that power could be transmitted thirty of forty miles at only 2 per cent loss, according to volume. Mr. Goodwin did not state for whom he made the calculations.

He recognized the good point at Warsaw for transmitting power to the dry towns of Lincoln, Cole Camp, Windsor, Versailles and Sedalia, and to points south, for electrical purposes.

Mr. Goodwin went to look over Camden county water power Saturday.

FORTY-FIVE MINUTES ON BROADWAY

GLEEN GUERNSEY

New York, Aug. 10.—Down south, when a fiendish crime against a woman has been committed, the offender, as a rule, immediately assumes the star role in a one-act tragedy, doing a sinister dance on the atmosphere with a rope as the principal "property" and a tree or a telegraph pole as scenery. Here in New York, where folk are less primitive and impetuous, we do things better. Far be it from us to give pain or even inconvenience to a wretch who is actuated by what our cultured scientists term the "biological imperative." It is due to this kindly and charitable feeling, perhaps, that of nearly 200 assaults committed on helpless women and children in New York and environs within the last few weeks not more than a half dozen of the assailants have been arrested. In one case an unfeeling magistrate, who was probably from Dixie, sentenced a convicted thug who had attacked a woman to nine years in the penitentiary. Other judges, tempering justice with mercy, have been content with imposing a fine or a jail sentence.

The victims, however, have been less fortunate. One poor girl, made a captive by a gang of toughs, is now in an insane asylum, where she will spend her few remaining days a hopeless lunatic. Little girls have been crippled and maimed for life by the brutes in human form now infesting the city. Others, more fortunate, are in their graves. The appearance of "Jack the Ripper," strangling his victims with ape-like hands, added the final touch of horror to a saturnalia of crimes against women and children such as no city has ever known before.

Now even New Yorkers, who revel in horrors and sensations, and who care not what happens so long as it doesn't happen to them, are beginning to lose patience with the apparent inability of the police to cope with the situation. Unless some of the offenders are soon brought to harsh and speedy justice, New York may wake up some morning and find itself the scene of a lynching bee, with all the modern southern accompaniments.

In the little cabin of the New York and Porto Rico steamer Goamo was recently enacted a scene stranger than fiction—a violently insane man sending a message across many miles of nothingness, asking for police aid in protecting others from himself.

Into the station of the wireless company in Brooklyn floated this message:

"John Quinn, wireless operator aboard Goamo, off Quarantine, is violently insane. Closely confined and not responsible for his actions. Need police help on arrival at pier."

The startled operator in the tower flashed back the question, "Who is sending?"

Back came the reply, in a series of jerky dots and dashes, "Quinn."

When the operator had become violent, threatening the lives of all on board, Captain Dalton and four brawny sailors forced him into the cubby hole occupied by his wireless instruments. Then the captain wrote the message and placed it before the madman, who glared in a sinister fashion, muttering incoherent threats.

Send—send," commanded the captain, pointing to the sheet of paper. With every other normal mental process gone, the madman yet retained in his clouded mind some faint glimmering that told him what was required. While still staring with glassy eyes at his captors, in a purely mechanical manner he rattled off the call for the station. When an answering click came, the insane man slowly spelled out his message. Then he began raving again, and had to be locked in the cabin and closely guarded until police aid was secured. His mental trouble, while of a serious and violent nature, is thought to be but temporary by physicians who have since examined him.

The recent unsuccessful attempt to dispose of city bonds has not deterred the New York officials, who have placed on the market another offering of $15,000,000 of 4 per cent. municipal bonds. Bids for all of portions of the offering will be opened Monday, and the bonds left unsold will be disposed of at private sale.

The city is sorely in need of money to carry on the great improvement projects now under way or soon to be commenced. Greatest of those is the Ashokan reservoir and aqueduct, designed to provide the greater city of a dozen years hence with an unlimited supply of water. This mammoth undertaking will cost in the neighborhood of $45,000,000. According to estimates based on past growth, New York will have 8,500,000 inhabitants in 1920, and added facilities for water supply will then be absolutely necessary. The municipal officials have commenced building for the future none too soon.

NEW PASTOR WAS CLUBBED

By Women, and Officer Who Came to His Aid Was Mobbed.

Youngstown, Ohio, Aug. 10.—Rev. Emanuel Stabile, the new pastor sent here to take charge of St. Anthony's church at Brier Hill, was struck in the head with a club in the hands of a woman when he went to assume his new duties.

Detective James Kane, who attempted to interfere, was likewise assaulted by the mob which gathered, and it was necessary to call out the police reserves to prevent a serious riot.

There was a mob of several hundred Italians gathered there awaiting the appearance of the new preacher, and when he appeared the church bell was rung, calling the workers from the surrounding furnaces.

The trouble started when Bishop Horstmann refused to appoint Father Louis Lops as the permanent pastor. The body of the congregation withdrew from the church and formed an independent Catholic church. They were determined, however, that the [illegible] should take possession of the church property, which he finally did, however.

FUNERAL OF DR. COLE

Will Be Held From the East Sedalia Baptist Church.

The funeral of Dr. William M. MALARIA A SYSTEMIC BLOOD POISON

UNDERMINES THE HEALTH—

LAYS THE FOUNDATION FOR DISEASE

Malaria comes from the absorption into the blood of germs and microbes which destroy the rich, nutritive qualities of the circulation and reduce it to a weak, watery, disease-spreading stream. The healthy color of the skin is given to it by the millions of little red corpuscles which are in the blood. These are the carriers of nourishment and health to all parts of the body; in other words the very life and vitalizing essence of the circulation. The destruction of these corpuscles by the malarial poison takes the color from the cheek, and in the first stages of Malaria we have pale, sallow faces, poor appetite, a bilious condition is set up, and we feel "out of sorts" generally. But Malaria means more than this; it is a systemic blood poison, which undermines the health and gives rise to innumerable and sometimes serious disorders and diseases if the poison is allowed to remain in the blood. As the blood becomes more and more polluted with the malarial poison, the digestion becomes deranged, chills and fever are frequent, skin diseases, boils and carbuncles, and sores and ulcers break out on the flesh, and after awhile the foundation is laid for other diseases which either prove fatal or permanently undermine and wreck the health. Malaria can only be worked out of the system through the blood. Purging the liver and bowels with strong, nauseating cathartics can never remove the trouble because they do not reach the blood where the germs are constantly multiplying. The only hope for a cure is a remedy that can destroy the germs and microbes, and neutralize the bad effects of the poison, and S. S. S. is the medicine to accomplish this, because it is a perfect blood purifier and a general systemic remedy of unequalled value. S. S. S. searches out and removes every trace of the malarial poison and puts the blood in such rich, healthy condition that sallow, anaemic complexions take on the ruddy glow of health, the liver and digestion are righted, the appetite improved, the system vitalized and strengthened, and every symptom of Malaria passes away. Malarial persons will find S. S. S. not only a prompt remedy but a gentle, pleasant acting one, as well as a certain cure for this disease. Besides removing the cause of Malaria S. S. S. builds up every part of the system by its fine tonic effects. Persons living in a malarial section should, at this season, fortify their systems against this insidious disease by purifying their blood with a course of S. S. S. Book on the blood and any medical advice desired sent free of charge.

FINED FOR STRIKING

This Was the Fate of Miners Over in Indiana.

Special to the Democrat-Sentinel.

Linton, Ind., Aug. 10.—Three dollars was deducted from the pay check today of each of the 300 miners of the Summit Coal company, making a total fine of $8 for each man who took part in a recent strike contrary to the provision in the contract with the state miners' organization.

The strike lasted eight days and each miner was assessed $1 a day, or a total of $2,400, which goes into the offers of the coal company. This is the first time the contract was ever enforced against striking miners.

The Summit mine was closed when the men demanded the discharge of the mine boss and the company refused to comply, all the miners walking out. The agreement between the miners and the operators provides for a forfeiture in the way of a fine for the parties who stop the mine in case of labor trouble without first submitting the grievance to the regular board of arbitration. The miners failed to observe this part of the agreement and the coal company insisted on the $1 a day penalty deducting it from the pay checks.

In Case Called Upon to Handle Western Union Business.

Mrs. Mae McCaffrey, manager of the Postal Telegraph Co.'s office here, says her utterances were misunderstood by the Democrat-Sentinel when she talked of the Western Union operators' strike Friday.

What she meant, Mrs. McCaffrey says, was that she would not handle the Western Union's Associated Press report for the Democrat-Sentinel unless she was given additional help, as otherwise it would be impossible for her to do so.

"I am for the Postal company at all times," said Mrs. McCaffrey, "and will always do my best, but to handle the Associated Press report in addition to my other duties is more than I could stand up under.

"So far as I know, Postal employes have no grievance, and I am not taking the troubles of the Western Union strikers upon my shoulders."

SUNDAY SCHOOLS' WORK

DR. G. L. SHEPARD, CO. SUPT.—NO. 24.

In accordance with our promise last week, we give this week an article on "How the Lessons Are Selected," which should be of interest to every Sunday school worker. When we realize the care with which this work is done, the character and standing of the members of the committee, and all the minutia of the task assigned to them, there should certainly be less of the feeling that "we could have done better ourselves." The article is taken from the Missouri Sunday School News.

"How the Lessons Are Selected, or the Lesson Committee at Work."

Prof. Ira M. Price, Ph. D., of the University of Chicago, and member of the lesson committee.

The lesson committee consists of fifteen men, three from Canada and twelve from the United States. Denominationally, there are three Baptists, three Methodists, three Presbyterians, one Congregationalist, one Disciple, one Episcopalian, one German Reformed, one Lutheran, and one United Brethren. According to ecclesiastical orders, there are twelve ordained ministers and three laymen. As to their present occupation, there are eight who are professors of officials in educational institutions, five are pastors or doing work closely related to the pastorate, and two are business men Geographically, these men are distributed as follows: One in Montreal, one in Toronto, one in Winnipeg, two in Denver, one in St. Louis, one in Chicago, two in Louisville, one in Memphis, one in Dayton, one in Buffalo, one in Lancaster, one in New York city, and one in Hartford.

The lesson committee is a composite of nine different denominations, with fifteen different points of view, on details and but one point of view on essentials. This committee was elected at the Denver convention in 1902, and it was organized with a chairman and secretary According to the dictates of the international convention this committee works under the following instructions:

(1) It must cover the Bible in a course of studies embracing six years' work, or two hundred and eighty-eight lessons.

(2) There have been determined for us the kinds of courses for which we must select lessons—a beginner's course, a general course and an advanced course.

(3) There are certain kinds of lessons which we must interject into the general course at specified times in the year. For example, we must provide one temperance lesson every quarter. In spite of the restrictions laid upon us, we have appeals every year for the incorporation into the scheme of a lesson or lessons on almost every subject on which reforms are being inaugurated or carried out. In our first meeting in 1903 in the city of Washington, our first task was to lay out the lessons for six years, to block out the entire Bible in a course of study to cover the years 1906-11. After prolonged study and discussion, a plan was finally adopted (now printed at the head of each year's lesson leaflet of the lesson committee). The chairman then selected a sub-committee on the Old Testament and one on the New Testament to select the lessons on the respective books as each year required. The plan of the committee for doing its work is this: We meet at some central city within our common territory, at some hotel, and we have the use of a parlor. At the head of a long table sits the chairman. The members of the committee who are present, usually from ten to twelve, sit on either side of this common board. These members of the committee are equipped with the American Standard Revised Version, the Authorized Version, concordances, lists of lessons since 1872, and the Greek New Testament, and various other documents; and furthermore, I say it with due modesty, we have ten heads well stored with Bible knowledge of different kinds, various experiences in teaching the Bible, our own denominational views and some fixed principles of Christian truth; but the best of all is that all of these men, with their different points of view, are so generous and broadminded as always to reach a harmonious conclusion on every point and difficult question.

Ozark Man Says He Was Not Allowed to Edit Paper.

Ozark, Mo., Aug. 10.—Prof. Fred Angwin has resigned the position of principal of the Ozark public schools, because, as he says, he is unable to comply with the conditions imposed by the board that he sever his connections with the Republican, of which he is the editor.

State Superintendent Gass came to Ozark May 25 to investigate charges of immorality against Angwin.

Mr. Gass cleared Angwin of the charges, declining to revoke his certificate, but many persons have since appealed to the state superintendent to reopen the case. It is said that Ozark citizens met Superintendent Cass at Springfield yesterday and asked him to again take up the investigation.

NAVIGATION IS BY STEAM

TODAY IS THE CENTENNIAL OF A TRULY IMPORTANT HAPPENING.

FIRST TRIP UP THE HUDSON RIVER

A Monument to Perpetuate Fulton's Name Will Be Erected on the Banks of the Famous Stream.

Special to the Democrat-Sentinel.

New York, Aug. 10.—Tomorrow will be the Centennial anniversary of one of the world's most important events, for it was on August 11, 1807, that the Clermont made her first trip up the Hudson river from New York to Albany, solving for all time the problem of steam navigation. In old Trinity church yard, on Broadway, lies all that is mortal of the inventor of the Clermont, Robert Fulton, whose memory will be honored with a great Hudson-Fulton celebration during the week of September 18, 1909. The observance, which will be on an elaborate scale, will commemorate both the 300th anniversary of the discovery of the Hudson river by Henrik Hudson and the centennial of the inauguration of steamboating on that famous stream.

As a permanent memento of this memorial celebration, a monument to perpetuate Fulton's name will be erected on the banks of the river Fulton chose as the scene of his historic venture. It is expected that the cornerstone of the memorial will be laid November 14 of this year, the 142d anniversary of Fulton's birth. When the monument has been completed, the bones of the famous man will be removed from Trinity church yard to the memorial stone which will form his everlasting tomb. Consent for this project has been granted by Robert Fulton's descendants, who are in hearty sympathy with the movement.

Four grandchildren of the distinguished inventor are now living, all in New York or vicinity. They are Robert Fulton Ludlow, of Claverack, N. Y.; Mrs. Ella Crary Camman, of New York; Charles Franklin Crary, of Merrick, N Y., and the Rev. Robert Fulton Crary, rector of the Church of the Holy Comforter, Poughkeepsie, N. Y.

A STRIKE OF PRINTERS

Decatur Seems Certain to Miss Sunday Papers.

Decatur, Ill., Aug. 10.—Up to 10 o'clock last night there had been no change in the strike of the printers employed in the plants of the Decatur daily newspapers. Numerous conferences were held during the day. The chances of issuing the regular Sunday morning papers seems very slim. The refusal of the printers to arbitrate the time and a half pay for all overtime work seems to have turned public sentiment against them.

The printers are still publishing the Decatur Daily World, a four-page union organ, setting forth their side of the controversy. Numerous complaints are made because of the non-publication of the regular papers, and both papers are losing heavily on their circulation in the country. From appearances the strikers and proprietors are as far from a settlement as they have been at any time.

New York Sport Gossip

ENOX BLOCKOFF

New York, Aug. 10.—What ought to be a nifty battle is now in course of being arranged between Jack Johnson, the big colored scrapper, who recently put a quietus on the ambitions of Freckled Bob, and Sailor Burke. The bout is to be pulled off during the first week of September, and will go to the club offering the best inducements, bids to be opened Monday. The agreement signed by Joe Humphreys, Burke's manager, and Sam Fitzpatrick, who looks after the interests of the colored giant, calls for the men to box six rounds at catchweights. It is agreed that soft bandages can be worn by both men and that straight Marquis of Queensbury rules to govern. Each side has agreed to post a forfeit when a bid for the bout has been accepted. While there is no doubt that the mariner can put up a stiff fight, he ought to be fried chicken and watermelon for the big moke.

New York sports are manifesting a lively interest in next Friday's battle for the lightweight championship of the world between Joe Gans and George Memsic, to be pulled off in Los Angeles. Jim Jeffries will act as referee and will receive $1,000 for his services. According to advices from the coast, both men are now in training and will be in good condition when they face each other in the ring six days hence. A $2,000 forfeit has been posted by each fighter, and the backers of both declare they mean business and that rumors of a fake are baseless. The men will be required to weigh in public every day next week before the contest, which will prevent another Nelson-Herrara fiasco. As a protection to the public, Jeffries declares that if anything shady develops in connection with the contest, he will call all bets off. The $10,000 purse will be divided $8,000 to Gans and $2,000 to Memsic, win or lose. In whatever way the tide of battle turns, Baltimore Joe will have "a white man a-workin' for him." Surprises are always possible in pugilism, and every fighter takes his pitcher to the well once too often, but it isn't likely that many fight fans will back Memsic on the strength of this possibility. He is undoubtedly a clever fighter and a hard hitter, but Gans is still in his prime, and will likely find it easy to efface Memsic from the lightweight pugilistic map.

Sports of the middle west will have an opportunity to see a good mix-up a week from Tuesday night, when Packy McFarland and Benny Yanger are scheduled to do things to each other before the St. Joe A. C., Fort Wayne, Ind., The melee is to go ten rounds and the weight agreed upon is 130 pounds at noon on the day of the contest, Aug. 20. Malachy Hogan will referee. This bout is to take the place of the Yanger-Little contest, which has been declared off. Both McFarland and Little have made good in the sporting circles of the central states, and a settlement of the question of superiority offers interesting features.

Reports from the sagebrush metropolis state that Goldfield has a new athletic club, which will put on its first attraction on Labor day. Marvin Hart and Mike Schreck are mentioned as the gladiators, who will furnish amusement for a Goldfield holiday.

Jack Twin Sullivan and his brother, Mike, have left the classic precincts of Boston and are again in the wild and wooly, the former having matched to fight ten rounds with Jim Flynn before the Denver A. C. next Friday night. Both men have a bone to pick as the result of former battles, and are reported to be anxious to settle their differences of opinion as to which is the better man. In the two former meetings Flynn won the decision in the first, adn the second was a twenty-round draw.

Five clubs will be granted licenses to pull off limited, no-decision boxing bouts in Chicago during the coming winter. This revival of the game by permission of Mayor Busse, has aroused great enthusiasm in the windy city, and will likely result in arrangements for several stiff contests during hte next few months.

The Quakertown clubs, the National and the Washington Sporting club, has attempted to get the six-round bout between Harlem Tommy Murphy and Fighting Dick Hyland, to be decided in September. It is likely the former will be given the match. The National A. C., Philadelphia's leading sporting institution, has closed until September on account of the hot weather. As a star bout of the opening show, an attempt is being made to match Tommy O'Toole, the crack Pennsylvania featherweight, and Frankie Neil, the little California fighter.

Tommy Burns is some sore on Mike Schreck, the Cincinnati heavyweight, and a letter to a New York friend says: "Some day I am going to surprise that four-flusher, Schrec, by accepting his challenge, and when I do get in the ring with him I will give him a beating that he will never forget."

JUDGMENT FOR CONVICT

Former Conductor Who Is Now in the Penitentiary.

Mattoon, Ill., Aug. 10.—John Lloyd, a convict, for many years a conductor on the Big Four railroad running out of this city, and who was injured in a wreck at Gillespie when the Central Illinois Traction company's crossing was put in, has received $1,000 in prison at Chester, where he is serving an indeterminate sentence for stealing freight from the road which employed him. He was convicted at the April term of the Coles county circuit court.

The Sunday morning the traction line "jumped" across the Big Four at Gillespie, Lloyd was conductor on the Big Four road, and his train, running thirty miles an hour, was ditched and Lloyd was severely injured. He brought suit and in the lower court of Montgomery county at Hillsboro a judgment for $1,000 was awarded him. The case was appealed, and in the meantime Lloyd had drifted away.

On June 30, the appellate court affirmed the decision and the $1,000 was paid over to the attorneys by the traction company. The attorneys finally located Lloyd at Chester. Lloyd was charged with wholesale stealing from the Big Four, and, together with his three brakemen, Jeff Driskell, Josh Cunningham and John Harris, is serving an indeterminate sentence. The Big Four company claims to have lost $80,000 in freight in one year between this city and East St. Louis.

WERE SHOT FROM AMBUSH

John McClintock Killed and Edna Rogers Wounded.

Bedford, Ind., Aug. 10.—John McClintock, 22 years old, was shot through the heart and killed, and Edna Rogers, 19 years old, his companion, was shot in one shoulder. The couple had attended a show at Bloomington and while returning were ambushed.

Harvey Hinkle, 21 years old, who is known to have loved Miss Rogers, has disappeared. He is said to have threatened suicide.

The girl told the police that Thursday night she and McClintock went to the theatre and Hinkle followed them. Throughout the performance he was looking at them. He followed them out and they saw him stop a friend and get a light for his cigarette.

When almost directly in front of her house, she said, they saw the form of a man lying on the grass and they stepped back. As they did so the man rose to his feet and fired two shots. One shot took effect in McClintock's left breast. The second bullet penetrated the shoulder of Miss Rogers and inflicted a painful but not serious wound.

"We never repent of eating too little," was one the ten rules of life of Thomas Jefferson, president of the United States, and the rule applies to every one without exception during this hot weather, because it is hard for food, even in small quantities, to be digested when the blood is at high temperature. At this season we should eat sparingly and properly. We should also help the stomach as much as possible by the use of a little Kodol for Indigestion and Dyspepsia, which will rest the stomach by digesting the food itself. Sold by Arlington Pharmacy.

Pumpkin Pie Divorce Cause.

San Francisco.—Mrs. Eleanor Doe Stetson, who is suing her wealthy husband, J. B. Stetson, president of one of the city railroad companies, for divorce, says she was compelled to eat pumpkin pie three times a day. She preferred salad and soup, but Mr. Stetson tabooed them. She liked striped bass, but her husband insisted that salmon was the only fish worth eating.

The mother was forced to eat her Christmas dinner alone, while her husband dined with his daughters, and she was never an invited guest at social functions given by the latter.

"When I went to New York a year ago," Mrs. Stetson said, "I left a pair of horses and a brougham in charge of a coachman. It had been purchased with my money and was mine solely. Soon as I left Mr. Stetson sold it for $1,200."

"COURTED" ON A LADDER

Divorced Husband Again Wooed Wife in Hospital.

Detroit, Mich., Aug. 10.—A second courtship romantic enough to satisfy the most inveterate fiction fiend will shortly lead to the remarriage of Mrs. Ida Newton and Chester G. Newton, both of this city, who were granted a divorce in Judge Donovan's court last September.

The reconciliation was brought about when the young wife was a patient in the contagious department at Harper hospital, ill with scarlet fever and diphtheria contracted while caring for her little daughter, Christine, aged 4, who was a patient in the hospital.

Ill and lonely, the young wife's thoughts turned intuitively to the husband and a plaintive little note went to him, saying that his wife would like to see him.

Gladly he responded, and, perched on a ladder put to her window in the contagious disease ward of the hospital, he renewed the vows taken five years ago. Mrs. Newton is petite and pretty, claims to be but 25, but scarcely looks more than 20.

WHEN THE LIVER GOES WRONG

One generally feels miserable all over. Sometimes it causes nausea, severe headache and often palpatation of the heart. These are first indications—more serious trouble will result if a good remedy is not taken to correct the unnatural condition. We recommend FRUSAL because it's pleasant to take and acts quickly and surely. It is in the form of an effervescing powder and it relieves constipation, indigestion, headache, palpitation, foul stomach, etc.

Whenever a gentle laxative is needed FRUSAL proves most satisfactory, as its action on the liver is never harsh and never causes griping.

NEW HEAD FOR THE "P.-D."

Mr. H. W. Seymour to Be Editor of a St. Louis Newspaper.

Horatio W. Seymour has come to St. Louis to take charge of the Post-Dispatch as editor-in-chief and manager, says Friday's St. Louis Times. His arrival will be followed by a number of changes in the staff of the paper and it is understood to mean also a marked alteration in the business nd editorial policy.

Mr. Seymour is one of the best known newspaper men in the west. He served for years as editor of the Chicago Herald and was publisher of the Chicago Chronicle when that paper passed out of existence some months ago. His record is that of a clean, conservative newspaper man, and as such he will be welcomed to this city.

When seen in the office of the editorial department of the Post-Dispatch, Mr. Seymour said to a Times reporter he had come to St. Louis to take an editorial position with the Post-Dispatch and that he expected to make his home here.

"My arrangement with the publishers of the Post-Dispatch always has been to come to St. Louis," Mr. Seymour said, "and there never has been any other intention. Rumors that I was located in New York were incorrect. My trip to the east was merely preliminary to coming here."

Notice to Muzzle Dogs.

The attention of the owners of dogs in this city is directed to the following section of the revised ordinances of 1894:

"Section 70. It shall be unlawful for any person or persons living within the corporate limits of the city of Sedalia to permit any dog or dogs owned by them, or under their control, to run at large in the city of Sedalia between the first day of June and the first day of September unless each dog shall be muzzled with a wire muzzle or other metallic muzzle."

Orders have been given to the police department to strictly enforce the provisions of the above section.—John A. Collins, Mayor.

John Riha, a prominent dealer of Vining, Ia., says: "I have been selling DeWitt's Kidney and Bladder Pills for about a year and they give better satisfaction than any pill I ever sold. There are a dozen people here who have used them and they give perfect satisfaction in every case. I have used them myself with fine results." Sold by Arlington Pharmacy.

BUILDING GOOD ROADS

EXHIBITS SHOULD BE MADE AT THE STATE FAIR HERE IN OCTOBER.

THE VIEWS OF EDWARD T. OREAR

People of Springfield, Ill., Say They Would Rather Have State Fair Than to Have State Capital.

Edward T. Orear, who is one of the boomers of a proposed macadam road from Sedalia through Sweet Springs to Higginsville, is anxious to have the state fair make a road building exhibit, says the Kansas City Star.

Mr. Orear owns a large farm in Saline county, and as it cannot be one o fthe proposed through roads he is anxious to help form a district and build a connecting road.

"Last year," he aid, "I suggested that the state fair ought to get the services of expert road builders from the United States government and give an exhibition of road building at the fair. At that time I was told the suggestion came too late. If the association will take up the matter now it can be made an important part of the show this year.

The fair will be held at Sedalia in October and there is plenty of time for preparation. When I went east with a committee to investigate the result of holding big fairs business men at Springfield, Ill., told me if they had to give up either they would rather lose the state capital than the state fair.

"I was surprised, as the capital brings business all the pear and the state fair only for one week. The explanation was that as a result of the fair the country for twenty miles round was stocked with practically nothing but pure bred stock and the farmers were richer and more able to spend money as a result.

"Let the fair give the public a good exhibition of road building every year and it won't be long until the roads of Central Missouri will show a very wonderful improvement.

HILL'S BUSINESS COLLEGE

During the last week six students have enrolled and began work in our various departments. Two of these were sons of Mr. T. A. Raker, of Roscoe, Mo., whose father, in his anxiety to place them in the best school possible, went to the expense of a trip to Kansss City to look over the business colleges of that city and then came here for the same purpose. Three of the number reside in Sedalia. While we enrolled students from twelve states and territories during the past year, we have been the proudest of the fact that a very large proportion of the young men and women of Pettis county who attend a business college have enrolled with us.

It is not the number of students enrolled in a school which gives it its standing so much as the character of those enrolling. During the past week we have had the pleasure of enrolling in our shorthand department Mr. Jacob Chasnoff, a graduate of the Sedalia High school, the Missouri State university, and is now home for his summer vacation, after successfully completing the freshman year of the Harvard university Law school. Although he has partially completed one of the Pitmanic systems, he has decided that the Gregg system is the most practical system in the field. He will not have sufficient time to complete this system before going back to his work at Harvard, but will complete it there during the winter in the Cambridge Commercial college. This is but one of the many instances that show the superiority of our system of shorthand.

We have placed two of our students from the Commercial department with the Lamy Manufacuring company in temporry positions for the summer. Mr. Oscar Atkinson and Mr. William Harbaugh, who will return in September to complete their work in the Combination course.

Mr. Harry Brunckhorst a graduate of our Commercial department, has accepted a position as bookkeeper with the Capital Publishing company, of Sedalia.

Mr. W. B. Bauman has resigned his position with the Sedalia Ice company and has accepted a similar position with Emerson-Marlow. The entire office force of this well known company are graduates of our school.

Mr. Fred Hammond has accepted a temporary position during the coming month with Montgomery & Montgomery, attorneys. The regular stenographer, Miss McCloskey, who is also one of our graduates, is taking her vacation.

Mr. G. R. Curry has resigned his position as bookkeeper with the Queen City Telephone company, and accepted a position as bookkeeper with Emery, Bird & Thayer, of Kansas City, Mo. He reports that he likes his position there and starts at a salary of $50.00 per month.

Miss Sadie Ray left Monday morning for Kanass City having no particular position in view. She found a pleasant boarding place in the forenoon and after dinner went down to our employment office and was immediately placed with the Dupligraph Letter company at $40.00 per month to start with.

Our special rates for the fall will positively be withdrawn on the first of September. Anyone expecting to take advantage of these rates should do so at once. Remember that all purchasing scholarships under this special offer have the privilege of instruction by mail until they are able to enter school. This in itself is equivalent to a further inducement of from $10.00 to $30.00 according to the amount of work you do before entering school. Unless fully satisfied that Hills Business college is the best school, you should investigate its merits before enrolling.

Quite a number are purchasing their scholarships by mail. We are always pleased to have prospective students and their parents come to Sedalia and investigate thoroughly the work we are doing and what the business men of the city think of our graduates before paying their money. You should be careful of solicitors who are offering special inducements to secure your enrollment before your coming to Sedalia. We invite investigation before you invest a dollar.

PETITION FOR A PARDON

It is Being Circulated in Behalf of Vernon County Man.

Attorney A. J. King is circulating a petition today asking the governor to pardon Dr. Todd, of Richards, who was sent to the penitentiary for twelve years for killing Robert Wall at Richards, says the Nevada Post.

Several other petitions of the same nature are being circulated in other parts of the county. All are being heavily signed.

Wears Gray at a Funeral.

London.—Rev. Frederick Spurr, one of the best known Baptist pastors in London, startled the mourners at the funeral of one of the deacons of his church by officiating in a gray suit of clothes. When questioned on the subject the pastor declared himself a believer in cheerful funerals. He said he was heartily sick of the paganism connected with Christian funerals. "The deacon was 82 years old," Dr. Spurr said, "and has been a good Christian all his life. He died of old age, so at his funeral I wore a gray suit and we sang an Easter hymn."

NEWS of the NATIONAL CAPITAL

SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE.

Washington, Aug. 10.—What practically will be a war fleet, although composed of ancient hulks and derelicts, will gather off Bois Blanc island in Lake Huron tomorrow for a program of naval maneuvers and activities to occupy one week. The squadron will hardly be a menace to the peace of the world and is not likely to give rise to war talk in Canada, since the ships mount no heavy guns. In all respects, however, the activities indulged in by the Atlantic fleet will be emulated.

Four sovereign states will be represented in this remarkable fleet gathered for the education of their naval militia. Illinois will be represented by the Dorothea, Michigan by Yantic, Minnesota by the Gopher and Ohio by the Hawk and the Essex. In addition, the ancient United States gunboat Wolverine will be in attendance and Commander Henry Morrell will use it as a flagship and direct the maneuvers from its dock.

Although an existing treaty between the United States and Great Britain prohibits the presence of warships on the Great Lakes, other than those engaged in the revenue cutter service, there is a growing sentiment for a trained naval force on the shores of the unsalted seas. With a great waterway between the Atlantic and the lakes, such as is now projected, warships could easily ravish the inland states if Uncle Sam and John Bull should ever go to war. While such a possibility is extremely remote, the development of a thoroughly trained naval militia is being encouraged in every way possible by the navy department.

The flagship Wolverine, which heads the training fleet, was built in 1842. Upon her ancient decks are mounted six six-pounders and a little Catling gun. No twelve-inch engines of destruction frown from her turrets, since she has no turret. It is from this vessel that the movements of the redoubtable squadron will be supervised.

Next in point of seniority comes the Yantic, on which the Michigan freshwater sailors will learn to defend their country. She was built in 1864, at the Philadelphia yards, and in the records of the navy is set down as unfit for service. The Yantic will do little toward keeping the Canadians on the opposite shore awake at night, since she hasn't a single gun. The Gopher, the proud representative of the Minnesota navy, is also gunless and classed as unfit for service. Ohio's naval honors will be defended by the Essex, with eight real guns, ranging from Colts to six-pounders, and the Hawk, minus anything resembling a battery. Illinois has the only modern steel vessel—the Dorothea, built a decade ago, with a battery of four six-pounders and several smaller guns.

It is announced that the wedding of Miss Edith Root, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Elihu Root, to Lieutenant Ulysses S. Grant, son of Major General Frederick D. Grant, and grandson of the late President Grant, will take place shortly after the return of the secretary of state from his visit to Mexico this fall.

Miss Root is now with her parents and brothers at their country home in Clinton, N. Y., and has not been in Washington since her trip to Cuba with the secretary. Whether the wedding will take place here or in New York has not yet been decided.

The romance of the young lieutenant and the secretary's daughter began with a reception given at the White house by the president, where Grant was present as one of the military aids of President Roosevelt. The friendship formed ripened into love, although only the most intimate friends of the couple were aware of the rapid progress of the courtship, and to Washington society in general the announcement of the engagement came as a complete surprise.

Miss Root was educated at Dobb's Ferry, N. Y., and made her New York social debut several years ago. She is a cultivated girl of the quiet, conservative type. Like her mother, she is a linguist of rare ability. After her return from her South American trip with her father she made a special study of Spanish and now converses in the tongue fluently.

Lieutenant Grant is a handsome and intelligent young man and highly popular in society. He was born in 1881, shortly after the return of his grandfather from his remarkable tour of the world. He received his early education in Europe, where he attended the state military school of Austria, during the four years of his father's term as American minister to that court. He was a schoolmate there of the present khedive of Egypt, Abbas Hilm. On his return to America he entered Columbia university, graduating in 1898. Later he entered West Point, graduating sixth in the class of 1902.

After the spectacular effect of fining the Standard Oil trust nearly thirty millions of dollars has subsided it may be well to investigate what advantage the public will gain even if the trust eventfully has to pay the full amount. John Rockefeller is reported to have said that "Judge Landis will be dead a long while before this fine is paid. In fact, many things will happen before that." But suppose the chief trust magnate is not a good prophet and in the course of a year the circuit and supreme court decide that the enormous fine is legal and must be paid. Where will the money come from but from the profits of oil, and it is not quite probable that a cent or two more a gallon will be charged the public, so that the trust's stockholders can still be paid their 40 per cent divident.

The object of trust busting in to reproduce competition which the trusts have nearly eliminated. Competitition brings down the price of products to a natural level according to supply and demand, while trusts through monopoly create an artificial price. Fining trusts for receiving rebates, as in the Standard Oil cases, will not reduce prices, but if our trust-busting republican friends really mean business they can when congress meets very quickly produce competition in all trust products by abolishing the tariff duty which protects them. The republican leaders have been constantly pointing out to those not conversant with the tariff law that all petrolium products are on the free list. That is true. But at the same time they know, or should know, that there is a reciprocity joker in the tariff pack, which they all voted for, which eventually protects the Standard Oil trust from competition from abroad. This provision, which is part of paragraph 626, which places "petrolium, crude or refined," on the free list, also stipulates that on petrolium, or its products "produced in any foreign country" there shall be collected when such goods are imported, a duty equal to the duty imposed by such country. As Russia and other important oil-producing countries levy duties on kerosene averaging about 100 per cent, it follows that the Standard Oil company is one of our most highly protected trusts. The custom officials hold that the rate of duty to be assessed are not those levied by the country from which the refined products may be imported, but those levied by the country which produces the petrolium from which the imported products were made.

That the trust is enormously protected by this tariff provision is evident from the difference in price as quoted in the New York Journal of Commerce, August 5th, the export price in bulk being 5 cents a gallon while the local price for tank wagon delivery was 10 cents a gallon. So, undel this beneficent republican tariff, the foreigner is buying his kerosene at bargain prices, or about half what our trust-ridden people are forced to pay through the collusion of the republican leaders and the trust monopolists.

About every prominent democrat from the south that drops into Washington these days is anxious to see a southern man named by the democrats for president, provided the delegates to the national convention from the close and doubtful states are satisfied that such a candidate would best unite the party.

BIRTH OF A CHILD

Followed by a Suit Against a Wealthy River Man.

Evansville, Ind., Aug. 10—Miss Ella Studeville, aged 18, a young woman of Grandview, Ind., has filed suit against Capt. Charles McNutt, of Grandview, Ind., for $25,000.

Capt. McNutt, who is one of the best-known river men along the Lower Ohio, is owner of the towboat Penguin, and until Monday was the owner of the towboat J. M. Bowell, which was sold to parties at New Albany. The filing of the suit has caused a sensation at Grandview, the home of Capt. McNutt, where he and his wife are prominent socially.

Miss Studeville alleges in her complaint that she went to make her home with Capt. and Mrs. McNutt when but 12 years old and that a short time after going to their home she was betrayed by Capt. McNutt. The latter denies the charge.

NEW YORK NEWS AND GOSSIP

SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE

New York, Aug. 10.—Oh, look who's here! The chorus girl! From London and Carlsbad and Atlantic City and Poughkeepsie and Hohokus, the fair sirens of the footlights, brown and tanned and a little the worse for wear, perhaps, but as charming as ever, are trooping back to Broadway. Rehearsals are now in progress all over the theater district, and soon the great white way will be again ablaze with lights. Here's to the chorus girl, harbinger of returning joys. Story writers, magazine artists and poets may prate of the summer girl of Newport or Atlantic City, but we care naught for her or her alleged charms. She may be beautiful and bewitching, but she has never been so close to us—metaphorically speaking—as the chorus girl.

According to the theatrical managers, however, there is a fly in their ointment at the beginning of the present season. It is that this year's crop of chorus girls threatens to be so short as to become a famine. Not that the mortality rate among the sirens has been unsually high. In short, Cupid has been working overtime this summer, and hundreds of th girlies, who last winter gladdened the hearts of the baldheads, are now provided with worser halfs. Out of a hundred applicants for positions on a road company, only ten were single. As the managers have a decided aversion to married chorus girls, the situation presented is a difficult one.

The manager of one road company declares he has had the hardest time in his long stage experience in getting a sufficient number of pretty chorus girls who were not hampered with husbands. Numerous applicants not only confessed to being married, but urged the fact that they had children to support in an appeal to the managerial sympathy. A chorus girl with children! The thought staggers the imagination.

Managers who have made a close study of chorus girlology, through the necessities of their business, may say that the good old summer time, with its brief vacation at the seaside or in the mountains, is their chief enemy in keeping up the supply of desirable footlight charmers. It is in the summer, according to the managers, that the thoughts of the chorus girl turn, not lightly, but seriously, to love, a husband, usually a worthless grafter, is the foreordained result. During the winter months the girlies flirt with the Johnnies and the grayheards, but seldom give serious thought to matrimony.

Monday night will mark the opening of the Astor theater, with Raymond Hitchcock, in a "Yankee Tourist." The company has been on the road this week, playing at Red Bank Wednesday night and at Long Branch last night and tonight. Hitchcock's funny voice and winning ways will o doubt make a decided hit in the clever musical farce which is now his vehicle of expression, after two years devoted to straight farce without music. The production will be notable as the Broadway stage debut of Richard Harding Davis as a libbrettist, and Wallace Irwin as a writer of jingles for stage purposes. The music is by Alfred Robyn, who supplied Hitchcock with his former musical success, "The Yankee Consul," which all admirers of the unctous comedian declared was good enough to run forever. The chorus of the production is said to be exceptionally gifted with ginger, and some of them, it is alleged, can really sing. The stage settings are as lavish and spectacular as Henry W. Savage has ever furnished his star, which is going some.

George Ade's famous comedy of the campus, "The College Widow," opens its tour in the jungles of New Jersey, at Plainfield, next Wednesday, and will then proceed to the Pacific coast. "The Widow" is said to be as charming as ever, and there is little doubt that the sons of the Golden west will fall in love with her.

There will be funny doin's at the American league grounds Monday, when all the most famous characters of the Sunday newspapers comic pages will be illustrated true to fiction during the course of a game in which the actors and cartoonists will contest for baseball honors.

Buster Brown, the Katzenjammer Kids, the Newlyweds, the Hallroom Boys, Happy Hooligan, Yens Yensen, Si, Maud and the wheelbarrow, will all be in evidence during the game. The actors have been training earnestly for the game and are confident that the cartoonists will be making funny noises, like lemons, when they are through with them and the final score has been marked up. The "artists" are equally confident that they can defeat the thespians and that their crestfallen opponents will furnish added materials for the pencil.

Does Printers' Ink Bring Results?

Last Sunday while driving near the fair grounds my fine Boston bulldog, "Rex," became lost from me. I was unable to find him after two days' search. Monday I inserted an ad in the Democrat-Sentinel's Lost and Found columns, and in twenty-four hours after your paper had been to press my valuable dog had been returned to me. The newspaper is the medium nowadays which brings to your door anything to buy or sell. Yours truly—Robertus Levi.

AUTO MAN'S EASY MONEY

A "PROMOTER" WHO ORGANIZED COMPANIES IN MANY BIG CITIES.

NOW HE HAS 'TURNED UP MISSING'

Was to Operate Special Sight-Seeing Vehicles—Now Said to Be in London Promoting Another Company.

Detroit, Mich., Aug. 10.—A tale of easy money is told in the recent career of Charles Berg, a promoter, whose two Detroit concerns, the Citizens' Transit company, capitalized at $500,000, and the Imperial Automobile company, capitalized at $300,000, have come to grief, assisted by litigation brought by dissatisfied investors.

Berg's trail leads through a dozen American cities—Detroit, Chicago, Philadelphia, St. Louis, Cleveland and others—into Toronto, Canada, London and St. Petersburg. His plan is to organize companies to operate so-called sight-seeing automobile buses, in cities, manufactured from patents in which he claims a controlling interest.

Several machines have been built from his specifications, but so far none of them have been operated with success and no dividends have ever reached the expectant investors. Glittering prospectuses, however, continued to bring plenty of stock buyers. The experimental machines have proved too cumbersome, too heavy and too costly to operate.

In Detroit, some well-known financiers became investors in Berg's companies. The total capitalization of Berg's known companies exceeds $8,000,000, with a great proportion paid in. In this city Berg was very lavish with stock in his concerns, trading some of it much below par to settle tailor and hotel bills, and for the rent of a fashionable summer home at Grosse Isle.

The last heard of Charles Berg by his Detroit acquaintances was that he was in London promoting another company.

Central Business College Items.

So many pupils have taken out scholarships for the coming year that Central Business college has been compelled to move its telegraph department down in the business part of the city. There will be a telegraph office in the main building, and the two will be in constant communication. This change is occasioned by the large growth of the school, necesitating the fitting up of the rooms we are now using for telegraphy for teh beginning shorthand department. Central Business college is now the largest institution of its kind in the state and will doubtless be, before the close of the year, the largest in the United States. The faculty has received some valuable additions, and the equipment of the college will be so improved that even better advantages will be given than ever before. Every mail is bringing in applications for help. So many are sending in for stenographers and bookkeepers that our pupils are accepting only the highest positions, from $60 to $75 per month. The following pupils have accepted positions the past week:

Mr. Leo Wooleman, operator at Corder, Mo.

Mr. E. R. Ralston, bookkeeper, railway, Houston, Texas.

Mr. Chilton Rogers, operator and agent, Rockville, Mo.

J. F. Avery, bookkeeper and stenographer, Missouri Pacific railway, Ossawatomie, Kansas.

F. L. Burruss, bookkeeper with the Leader, Estancia, N. M.

John H. Roster, stenographer, Armour Packing Co., Chicago.

May Stancey, stenographer, Cupples Envelope Co., St. Louis, Mo.

F. E. Reed, bookkeeper, Simmons Hardware Co., St. Louis, Mo.

C. C. Caldwell, stenographer and bookkeeper, South McAllister, I. T.

Anna Hersche, stenographer, large mining stock company, Walnut street, Kansas City, Mo., and many others whose names have slipped our memory.

The salaries that we are enabled to secure our pupils direct from school are increasing every year. This comes from graduating the most thorough and competent stenographers and bookkeepers. The fact that for twenty-five years Central Business college has been sending its students out to engage in business for themselves creates many additional calls. Our former pupils know exactly where to send for the best. We have received applications, the past week, from several of our former pupils who are in business asking for stenographers and bookkeepers.

Those who desire to enter this school should make arrangements at once, as we are receiving letters in every mail from those desiring to enter. Make your arrangements before the first of September and avoid the rush.

"PINCH" MOORE HEARD FROM

Sends a Clipping for "Dockery" Harris and Lee Looney.

Dr. Ed L. Moore, of Sharon, Pa., sends the Democrat-Sentinele the following dispatch from Cleveland, Ohio, with the request that it be reproduced for the benefit of his friends, "Dockery" Harris and Lee Looney:

"The republican league is being attacked from all sides because it has arranged odd contests for women for its picnic on August 24. The contests to which the protests have been made are the beauty contest, beautiful forearm match and the wading contest, the latter coming in for most of the complaint.

Churchmen, club women, religious societies and other bodies have criticised these features. The wading contest medal will go to the woman who raises her skirts the highest, and the contest will take place in an improvised pool of clear water. The farther from the bank a contestant wades the higher the water, and, of course, the greater necessity for her raising her skirts higher."

GIRLS POSE AS "EVE"

Then the Man Responsible Had to Run for His Life.

Denver, Colo., Aug. 10.—Five hundred people living near Jerome park yesterday chased William Anderson, aged 29, when it was learned that he had been paying little girls to pose as water nymphs in the swimming pool at the park.

Men, women and boys joined in the pursuit of Anderson, who would have been roughly handled had he not taken refuge in a saloon, where he was rescued by Policeman Snyder.

The girls told their parents Anderson had given 50 cents to each to dance in the pool. The girls ranged from 10 to 15 years in age.

AN OPPORTUNE ACCIDENT

By JOSEPH KEATING

(Copyright, by Joseph B. Bowles.)

Gloom was in her pretty face.

"What ails you, Helen, dear?" asked her husband in his kindest tone.

"It is nothing, Reginald," was her reply.

"Well, is it my going—"

"No—no. Why, you are often away. Why should that trouble me?"

"Well," said he, "I must be off. It will be inconvenient for me to get away until late, and the last train leaves Hallwell at 10:30. That means I shan't get back until to-morrow evening. I daresay I shall be able to get here in good time for dinner. Good-by, Helen."

He meant to kiss her. She put her hands upon his shoulders, and the pleading sorrow in her eyes stopped him.

"Reginald," said she, "you seem very eager to be off. Especially as you won't be home to-night."

"He must never know," thought she, "how anxious I am that he shall not stay away to-night of all nights. I dare not hint at that."

Now, Reginald loved his wife—loved her very much. In fact, there was no woman in the world, he felt, that he could love so much.

She Hesitated, Every Fiber Strained in Terror.

"Well," said he, forebodingly, "if you are willing to risk seeing too much of me—"

She laughed.

"You needn't laugh, Helen."

"You'll come back to-night?"

"Yes; good-by. I shall not be back in time for dinner."

Mrs. Reginald had gained her point without letting him know it.

Another five minutes later she went out heavily veiled. She went far away from the house, and did not stop till she reached the general post office. Any other place in London was too small for the telegram she had to send.

"You are quite wrong. There shall be no 'one last look' in my history. I have insisted upon my husband being home this evening. Take this to mean definitely you must never dare communicate with me again."

There was no signature. The sender's features were hidden, and not the slightest clue was left whereby the origin of the message might be traced.

When she got home the first thing she did was to take a letter out of her pocket, put it on the fire and watch it become ashes. This was how she would have treated such a document before going out, but the address of the writer was so important a thing that she dared not trust to memory in sending the wire. She feared even now that some mistake would prevent the message from reaching its destination. Of course she read it once again before burning it.

"When I returned to London and found you married as a retaliation upon my indifferent conduct, I knew I should never be happy in this country. I determined to leave London straight away. But I want to see you—I want to see you so much. I know it is wrong, but right or wrong is nothing to me. I am coming to take one last look at you, hear your voice for the last time. I have discovered when the hateful being ('That's my husband,' commented the reader) will be absent. I implore you to let me see you this evening."

"Ah!" sighed Mrs. Reginald complacently, watching the last of the letter in the fire. "A man in love is a ship without a port. This man has no notion of where he is drifting to. But, thank heaven, I have sufficient common sense to know my duty to Reginald and to decency."

A little rest soon restored the good spirits of Mrs. Reginald. She had just taken a cup of tea, which cheered her considerably; and after Jane had cleared away and lit the lamp, she sat thinking of her eventful day. The hour at which the upsetting visit had been threatened was past.

Suddenly the door bell rang, and Jane hurried down.

Mrs. Reginald's best intentions were frustrated; the man who had caused all her perturbation during the day was, in spite of all she had done, now ushered into her presence.

He was young, tall, dark, handsome and well-dressed. The intense excitement of standing before the woman he loved, and the pain of seeing her for the last time, gave his face a glow which seemed to surround him like the halo of a martyr meeting his doom.

But anguish also found home in the heart of the woman.

"You will not speak to me, Helen?" said the man.

"Mr. Greatrex," she returned, with a cold, hard manner, "why have you been foolish enough to do this? You deliberately endanger the happiness of husband and wife. Has all sense of honor left you?"

"You are cruel. I had no thought of bringing harm to you. You have made my life a torture for all the years to follow. I thought you could spare me one little moment in which to be happy."

"The past is the past. I am a wife. You have intruded yourself here after my forbidding it."

"Forbidding it?"

"You had the message?"

"What message?"

"The telegram I sent this morning."

"Where did you send it?"

"To the hotel address on the letter.'

"I am sorry. That letter was written in the afternoon. Then your brother came and insisted upon my spending the night under his roof, as it is my last in London. I have not been to the hotel since—"

The woman groaned. She looked pleadingly at Greatrex.

"If you have any kindness left for me," she said, "leave my husband's house this moment. Do not let us delay. Go at once."

The woman's agitation was so evident he took pity on her.

"Well, I take my leave."

"Yes, yes."

"Good-by, Helen."

He held out his hand. She hesitated, every fiber strained in terror.

The street door was thrown open. She dreaded to think that this might be her husband. If so, then her punishment was complete.

A sound of pain came up from the hall.

"Helen, Helen!" called the voice of her husband, in unmistakable agitation.

Helen covered her face with her hands.

"They will kill one another!" she cried.

Mr. Greatrex stood motionless. The terror of the woman took away, for a moment, his presence of mind.

"Helen, Helen!" called her husband again.

She wondered why he delayed coming up.

A groan came from the hall.

Helen recovered herself a little. She looked up.

"Stay here," she whispered, tremblingly.

The truth would now seem fictitious. What could she do? In her own mind she believed that the death of one of the two men must be the outcome of this meeting.

"Helen; is that you?" asked Reginald.

"Yes," she replied, trying to suppress her agitation.

Now she perceived that something had happened to him. He held his hand tightly over his left eye.

"Has anything happened?"

"Take me upstairs. I should think something has happened," he returned with a groan. His pain was intense, apparently.

"What is it?" asked his wife, delaying him at the foot of the staircase, while she slowly took off his coat.

"The beastly horse went down on a hill just as I was driving to Jenks & Co.'s place this afternoon in Hallwell. The hansom went all to smash. The front window sash broke, and I was thrown on to it. I think it's ruined my left eye. The doctor dressed it and put a cap on it."

Helen's sorrow was as great as her husband's pain. But in a moment the feminine quickness of thought caught at a means of salvation for her own and her husband's happiness (whatever might be the effect upon his left eye).

"The gaslight is terrible," she cried. "If the sight of one eye is injured it will endanger the sight of the other if left exposed to gas light. Let me bind it."

Without waiting for permission, she swiftly drew out her handkerchief. In another instant she had bandaged his right eye, and he was completely blind.

"Now, dear," she said, taking his arm, "let me lead you up to our room."

He stumbled upstairs beside her. Without hesitating she led him into the room where Greatrex stood in wonderment.

As she passed over the threshold, Helen made a sign indicating that he must leave the room at once.

Greatrex moved past the husband and wife to the door.

"Who's that?" querulously demanded the husband.

"Only Jane," replied the wife, with her hand upon her heart, as if she feared the terror within would hurst it.

"Oh," said the husband, satisfied.

Greatrex went slowly down the staircase and out of the house, which he should never again enter.

The wife, who had led her husband to a sofa, now stood with her hand still upon her heart, at the door of the room, watching the other man till the hall door closed behind him. Then she burst into tears and, returning to the sofa, knelt at her husband's feet.

Two Dyspeptics

If you are too fat it is because your food turns to fat instead of muscle—strength. If you are too lean the fat producing foods that you eat are not properly digested and assimilated.

Lean, thin, stringy people do not have enough Pepsin in the stomach, while fat people have too much Pepsin and not enough Pancreatine.

Kodol

For Dyspepsia

Contains all the digestive juices that are found in a healthy stomach, and in exactly those proportions necessary to enable the stomach and digestive organs to digest and assimilate all foods that may be eaten. Kodol is not only a perfect digestant, but it is a reconstructive, tissue building tonic as well. Kodol relieves Indigestion, Dyspepsia, Sour Stomach, Heartburn, Palpitation of the Heart and Constipation. You will like it.

THE "MAN" WAS A "GIRL"

Wanted to Join the Navy, Wept and Confessed Her Sex.

Pittsburg, Pa., Aug. 10.—Because she loved her brother more than any other man living and wanted to join him, Ella Doehing, aged 20, tried to enlist in the navy here. She balked only when Chief Master-at-Arms Walter Brown ordered her to undergo a physical examination.

The girl gave the name of Harry Doehing. A couple of times she faltered, but not until she was taken into a private room did she balk. When told to strip, she began to cry and confessed that she was masquerading as a young man. Miss Doehing said she was an orphan and since her brother enlisted she was lonesome.

Though pretty and only 20 years old, the attentions of other young men did not attract her. The girl's story aroused interest about the recruiting station and a search of the records was made. Her brother, George Doehing, is an apprentice seaman on the Vermont. The girl declared that she would find some way to join him.

I will mail you free to prove merit, samples of my Dr. Shoop's Restorative, and my book on either dyspepsia, the heart or the kidneys. Troubles of the stomach, heart or kidneys are merely the symptoms of a deeper ailment. Don't make the common error of treating symptoms only. Symptom treatment is treating the result of your ailment and not the cause. Weak stomach nerves—the inside nerves—mean stomach weakness, always. And the heart and kidneys as well have the controlling of inside nerves. Weaken these nerves and you inevitably have weak vital organs. Here is where Dr. Shoop's Restorative has made its fame. No other remedy even claims to treat the inside nerves. Also for bloating, billiousness, bad breath or complexion, use Dr. Shoop's Restorative. Write Shoop, Racine, Wis. The Restorative is sold by the W. E. Bard Drug Co.

FRIENDS OF SOCIALISM

MORGAN, HARRIMAN AND ROCKEFELLER, SAYS PROFESSOR ZUEBLIN.

FURTHERING A SOCIALISTIC END

Eventually it Will Be Easy Matter for the Government to Take Over the Possessions of the Trust Magnates.

Chicago, Aug. 10.—John. D. Rockefeller, J. P. Morgan and E. H. Harriman are the greatest friends of socialism in America, according to Prof. Charles Zueblin, the University of Chicago sociologist.

That the industries built up by these men will result in the reign of socialism in this country was the professor's prediction in a lecture on "The Constraint of Orthodoxy" at the university.

Prof. Zueblin declared that the great capitalists are furthering a socialistic era to a far greater extent than the confessed socialists, who harm their cause by constant agitation. The government eventually will find it easy to take over the industries of such men as Rockefeller, Morgan and Harriman, he told the students.

Orthodoxy in religion, economics, politics and society was scored by the professor as "cowardice." He lampooned popular standards in religion, the "sacredness" of the merican constitution and adherence to social conventions, declaring that "shirt sleeves should be as proer at dinner as the clawhammer."

"The retail friends of socialism today are Rockefeller, Morgan and Harriman, the en who are organizing great international industries," he said. "Eventually it will be a comparatively easy matter for the government to take theses industrie over.

"The socialistic zealots are enemies to their creed as compared with these men. The man who conceives his mission to be to get up whenever oportunity offers and say that socialism is the only thing that will save society is the man retarding evolutionary socialism."

GIRL BRIDE OF ONLY 13

Theatrical Agent Landed in Jail on Seduction Charge.

Davenport, Ia., Aug. 10.—A sensational elopement ended in an arrest here. Mrs. Lily Wood, of Bloomington, Ill., overtook her 13-year-old daughter, Delpha, and her husband, Roy Hodge, of Peoria, Ill., a young theatrical agent, who were married Saturday afternoon. Mrs. Wood marched Hodge to jail at the point of a revolver and had him locked up. He is charged with seduction.

George Wunder, who assisted in securing the marriage license and swore that the girl was of age, is also under arrest, charged with perjury.

The Wood family, including the girl wife of Hodge, are members of a theatrical troupe They played Friday night at Rapids City, Ill. At midnight Hodge and the Wood child slipped out of town, walked to Port Byron and there stole a skiff in which they came down the Mississippi to Davenport.

Here Hodge purchased a long skirt to replace the knee skirt worn by the girl, and in this way concealed her youthful age and was enabled to secure a license and have a marriage ceremony performed.

KATY CARS TO BE GREEN

The Change Will Be Made as Rapidly as Possible.

All passenger coaches on the Missouri, Kansas and Texas railway will be green, says the Parsons Sun. This is the general order which has gone out from headquarters, and as fast as the cars go into the paint shop at Sedalia the color is changed.

A railway coach is repainted once in seven years. It is varnished once each year. As the old coaches go into the shops for the varnishing, the new color will be put on.

The late order of new chair cars recently received by the M., K. & T. had the sides all painted green. When the order was made, it was thought proper that the general order should affect them also. General Superintendent E. M. Alvord has just had his private car, No. 49, painted green.

The color of passenger coaches has been one of speculation on American railways for many years. The Burlington recently changed from yellow to black, the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul uses yellow generally, the Northwestern uses yellow and red, the Pennsylvania uses red and black, and other eastern railroads have different varieties. Western railways generally use black as the official color.

The M., K. & T. has adopted green as a favorite color. The late calendars were in this color, and advertising matter issued since has the same effect. Several trains running on short divisions are green, and it will not be long before the entire passenger rolling stock will be green.

A TEMPERANCE BEVERAGE

Beer Now Classed as a Non-Intoxicant and Regarded as an Aid in Crusade Against Whisky.

Under the caption, "A Temperance Discourse," the Duluth Herald, one of the influential papers of the northwest, and a steadfast opponent of the whisky traffic, takes the stand that beer is in reality a temperance beverage.

Within the past few years a great change has taken place in the attitude of press and pulpit with reference to the use of beer. The article in the Duluth Herald is but a reflection of enlightened public sentiment on the temperance question. Not only is the harmlessness of beer now admitted, but the medical profession is practically a unit in declaring it a wholesome and healthful drink. The Duluth Herald says:

"In this age of temptation, with fanatics and extremists on all sides, it is indeed hard to escape the delirium of extremes in everything that pertains to the social uplifting of the human family. There are fitful waves of reform under the guise of God, Home and Native Land, and still crime and dissipation walk hand in hand and seem surprised at the meagerness of the harvest.

"The tearing asunder of marriage ties, defalcations and murders are filling our jails and almshouses full to overflowing, and yet there seems to be no remedy as the mill of intemperance grinds on. The evil has been fought by iniquitous prohibition laws, high license and local option, all of which have signally failed to correct or even modify the evil.

"The evils of intemperance have not been reached and never will be until there is a divorcement of whisky and beer at public bars. Whisky is a drunkard's drink, while beer is an invigorating, non-intoxicating tonic, containing only 3½ per cent of alcohol—a pure barley, malt and hop liquid food that should not be regulated by high license, as it never has and never will produce a drunkard. It may be misused by the glutton, but it will not produce an alcoholic stomach nor fire the brain to commit any of the acts complained of by society. Beer as a beverage is nature's drink and is so being classed by all thoughtful men and women. It has been caught in bad company by being sold over the same bar with whisky, the fluid that fires the brain, that creates an alcoholic stomach and sends its victims by millions to fill pauper graves. The only reason whisky is tolerated is the revenue derived from it. The crusade against the drink habit, if conducted along rational lines, would accomplish much, but this must be done by eliminating the alcoholic drinks and pushing the introduction and sale of the non-intoxicant lager beer. This done, and society will have no fault to find against the ills of intemperance, as they will be entirely void when liquor drinking is pushed aside, as the vile fusil oils in alcoholic beverages will not be allowed to ruin the body and soul."

William Marion Reedy, editor of The Mirror, in a recent issue of that paper declares that good beer is the greatest influence in behalf of temperance in this country.

Those attending from the city were Miss Myrtle Smith and Messrs. Railey Barbour, Lake Tisdale and George Smith.

A number of delightful entertainments were planned and successfully carried out last week in honor of Misses Marie and Jessie Hall, of Kansas City, who are the guests of Mrs. Marion Davis and Miss Florida Yantis, of Independence, the guest of Miss Mattie Hall. The last of these was a picnic Saturday afternoon in the Springs' grounds. These charming guests of honor are all former Sweet Springs girls, and their friends here delight to honor them.

Mrs. E. L. Spurgeon was hostess to a number of friends Friday afternoon in compliment to Miss Kate Drysdale, of Lexington, and Miss Katherine Cromwell, of Kansas City. A visit to the beautiful country home of Mrs. Spurgeon is always a treat, and this was especially so, owing to the opportunity afforded of meeting her visitors. Progressive "42" was enjoyed for some time, after which a delicious lunch was served in courses. Miss Angie Berry won the prize, cutting with Mrs. E. T. Orear and Mrs. C. L. Jones. A most delightful afternoon was spent by every guest, and Mrs. Spurgeon scored another triumph as a most gracious hostess.

RELIABILITY

IN Vehicle buying the main point to be considered is reliability. It is the unseen, the hidden value—due entirely to materials used and workmanship employed. Price alone cannot insure it.

All our Vehicles are built with perfect material—expert workmanship. Every piece of lumber is thoroughly examined every piece of iron tested, before being used in the construction of the Vehicles we offer in our repository.

The following list of factories we represent is in itself a strong endorsement:

Rock Island Buggy Co.
Pontiac Buggy Co.
Sechler Carriage Co.
Columbia Buggy Co.
Rex Buggy Co.

We are showing an exceptionally good line of delivery wagons, strongly made, neatly finished—the kind you feel proud to have upon the streets, representing your business.

By an intimate knowledge of material and construction it is our object to reduce the buyer's risk.

A "ROAST" FOR WALSH

Kansas City Lawyer Who Is Well Known in Sedalia.

"I'm sorry to see Frank Walsh losing out in the public esteem," remarked the Barkeep with the Bulging Brow to Willis King, of the Kansas City Post, as he poured out a glass of buttermilk for the Regular Patron.

"It is tough for a public-spirited citizen to be so misjudged," agreed the patron as he winked at the ice box.

"Yes, it hurts a man all over, and no wonder Frank is sore," said the Barkeep. "Now, Dr. Zorn has it in for Frank, but Dr. Zorn is prejudiced. He has a thin skin and a good memory. Perhaps that is the reason he is not willing to let bygones be bygones and throw up his hat for Walsh and reform.

"Then there are a few politicians who accuse Frank of not being sincere in his democracy. This is unwarranted and unjust. Let Frank write the platform and name the ticket and he will take off his coat and work. When a misguided majority denies him this poor privilege can a man of honor be blamed for getting out and throwing bricks at the procession. Give him control of the city hall and he will sit up nights trying to think of public servants to put in there. Isn't the man who would take this time from his private business a patriot and a benefactor?

"I know any number of men who would go on the witness stand and tell what a good fellow Frank is. Why, there's Andy Gallagher, Ed Curtin, Cas Welsh, the Skinners, Mickey O'Hearn, the Lisieckes and any number of others.

"You can bet he is a good citizen," continued the barkeep. "Treat him right and he'll come right up and eat off your hand."

"You mean 'out of your hand,' don't you?" asked the Patron.

"Perhaps I do," said the Barkeep. "I spoke hurriedly."

QUEEN VICTORIA'S HAIR.

Its Great Profusion Was Always a Cause of Wonder.

Even at the age of 80 years, Queen Victoria's hair was a marvel of luxuriance. The court physician, following Prof. Unna's discovery, undoubtedly, treated her majesty's scalp with a germ destroying preparation that was not made public. It is now known, however, that the remedy for dandruff, the germ destroying element, is embodied in Newbro's Herpicide, the only hair preparation on the market that does destroy the dandruff germ. Without dandruff the hair will grow profusely, and falling hair will be stopped. Destroy the cause, you remove the effect. Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c in stamps for sample to The Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich. Two sizes, 50c and $1. W. E. Bard Drug Co., special agents.

HOME MISSION NOTES

Of Especial Interest of M. E. Church, South, Members.

For the quarter ending June 1, 1907, the collection of the Woman's Home Mission society amounted to $23.413—an increase of more than $7,000 over the same quarter last year.

Prof. E. E. Bishop, who for four years has directed the Brevard institute at Brevard, N. C., has been transferred by the Woman's Board of Home Missions to open up the Vashti home and school at Thomasville, Ga. He will be succeeded by Prof. Carl Trowbridge, of St. Louis, Mo. Mr. Trowbridge has taught four years in Central college, Lexington, Mo., and five years at Washington university. The Home Mission society is fortunate to secure the services of both these gentlemen.

Some one has said, 'The United States is the greatest home missionary field in the world." If this be true, what a responsibility it involves. More than a million immigrants landed on our shores during the past year. Josiah Strong says: "We may well ask whether this insweeping immigration is to foreignize us, or are we to Americanize it. Our safety demands the assimilation of these strange populations." Whether they become Americanized depends less on them than on ourselves.
